(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, May 3.—Crippled by failure of the powerful Screen Actors Guild to support them, 10 striking craft unions nevertheless today swung back into action and dispatched reinforced picket lines to the major motion picture studios.

New Craft Unions Join

Re-forming of picket lines followed a tempestuous day yesterday in which seven new craft unions officially joined the strike while the actors held a mass meeting and decided to delay strike action a week.

Strikers, who had been pinning hopes on immediate action by the Actors Guild, admitted its failure to join them was a blow. Labor leaders, however, declared flatly they intended to gain recognition from the producers or bring the gigantic $255,000,000 film industry to a complete paralysis.

While the actors ordered their directors to negotiate with producers and report back in a week, they left

Three Plead Guilty Today

Schlossman, Weiss And Bleefield Plead Guilty To Wendel Kidnaping

TRIAL TAKES SUDDEN TURN

(International News Service)

NEWARK, N. J., May 3.—Three of the five defendants in the Paul Wendel kidnaping case suddenly pleaded guilty in federal court today.

The three are Martin Schlossman, Harry Weiss and Murray Bleefeld. They had been charged, with Ellis Parker and his son, Ellis, Jr., with kidnaping Wendel and coercing him into making a false "confession" to the abduction of Baby Lindbergh.

Their sudden change of front—they previously had pleaded not guilty—came as a dramatic surprise.

Guilty pleas for the trio was believed to foreshadow their appearance as witnesses for the government. Counsel for the government recently announced intention of calling as witnesses many of those who took part in the bizarre sequence of events immediately preceding the execution of Bruno Richard Hauptmann.

Because of the so-called "confession" of Wendel—a document he later repudiated—Hauptmann's execution was delayed several days beyond the scheduled date.

Divorce Decree Formally Granted To Mrs. Simpson

Final Decree Is Ordered In Short Order By English Court Today

NO OBJECTIONS MADE TO ACTION

American Woman Is Now Free To Marry Former King Edward VIII. . . .

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, May 3.—The ponderous processes of English law made Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson a woman finally free today—free to marry the man who for the love of her renounced crown and country.

It was the last step but one before the Baltimore belle of smartly-tailored clothes and sparkling eye becomes her royal highness the Duchess of Windsor, who as such shall yield precedence among women only to queens.

Final Act In Divorce Drama.

The final act in the drama of jurisprudence which has gripped the world since Mrs. Simpson first appealed for a divorce from Ernest Aldrich Simpson to clear the way for her marriage to former King Edward VIII was performed without a hitch and with a simplicity almost out of tune with the rest of the story.

The presiding justice of the law courts, divorce division, Sir Boyd Merriman, simply read of the names and numbers of a list of 86 applications for final divorce decrees.

The world-renowned case of W. Simpson vs E. A. Simpson" was No. 56.

Then he waited to see whether there were any objections. Just as a clergyman asks, before sealing a marriage bond, for anyone who knows why a bridal couple should not be joined together to come forward and speak "or else forever hold his peace," Sir Boyd gave the people of Britain their last chance to prevent the divorce.

No Objections.

But there was no dry-voiced intervener; no sincere or misguided trouble-maker to step forward in an effort to put a stop to a marriage destined to make history.

At the moment this brief but all-

Labor Victory Parade And Meeting Saturday; Murray Makes Address

Reminding his hearers that the recent union victories in the United States carry tremendous responsibilities along with their benefits, Phillip Murray, chairman of the Steel Workers Organizing committee addressed a "Victory Day" crowd in the Scottish Rite Cathedral Saturday afternoon following the parade which moved from the Central fire station lot to the Cathedral in formation.

Mr. Murray is a forceful speaker, employing none of the usual oratorical tricks to score his points. Rather he preferred to depend upon the sincerity of his voice than by a display of gestures and the use of rabble rousing tactics. His talk was that of a man who believed in his subject.

Changing Conditions

"This is the kind of a demonstration today that spells progress for labor in this county" he said in opening his address. "The S. W. O. C. is the creature of the C. I. O. A year ago prominent men said to me, it would be impossible to organize the steel industry. Back of it was five millions of dollars and fifty years of tradition of open shop. But today victory is here."

"Seven or eight months ago it was impossible to secure a permit in New Castle for your people to meet. People were afraid to be seen talking to an organizer. We believed that our civil rights should be respected. We believed in an organization big enough, with enough money back of it to break that sort of thing down and we have done it. You now have a new feeling of economic freedom. The greatest blessing that comes into the life of a wage earner is the knowledge that he is a free man. That feeling takes precedence over every other feeling."

Political Freedom

"Economic freedom assures political freedom. Ten months ago we had no membership. Half a million steel workers and 350,000 in plants fabricating steel belonged to no union.

This matter was not taken up officially at the meeting, and it was indicated it had been left for individual actors and actresses to decide for themselves.

Men who stood about the studios today declined to state what measures they intended taking against any who might attempt to run the lines.

Actors Not Likely To Be Halted

It was believed, however, since actors passed unhindered through the lines Saturday that they would do so again today.

Pat Casey, labor representative for the Motion Picture Producers association, declared the 52 pictures now in production at the various studios would be continued "as usual".

The Screen Actors Guild meeting last night was attended by 3,000 of the group's 5,600 members and those participating included such stars as Warren William, Joan Blondell and Franchot Tone.

It was held in the Hollywood Legion stadium, where President Robert Montgomery presided from the prize-fight ring.

Admittance was limited strictly to those bearing Guild cards, but the meeting was watched from the outside by several hundred fans, as well as reporters, photographers and members of the striking crafts.

When it was announced the actors had decided on the delay, the strikers declared the decision would make no difference to their plans, and left to join their picket lines.

Called by Three Craft Unions

The strike was called by three craft members of the federation for Saturday, and after a series of labor meetings all over Hollywood yesterday that number was increased to 10 today.

More than 6,000 from the scenic artists, stationary engineers, plumbers, motion picture painters, molders, cooks, utility workers, machinists, boilermakers and make-up artists were officially on strike today.

Lessing declared that members of the other eight crafts affiliated with the federation were pledged not to attempt to pass the picket lines.

Those craft unions which have not yet voted on the strike are costumers, sheet metal workers, blacksmiths, riggers, welders, iron workers.

The craft unions are seeking only one point at the present time—recognition.

Hollywood, May 3.—Musicians and dancers are refusing to pass through picket lines into studios here, headquarters of striking Federate Motion Picture Crafts claimed today.

Strikers also announced they had ordered 5,000 pickets to watch gates of the nine studios under fire.

Pickets today were wearing arm bands designating their craft unions.

"The duke will leave at 4:45 p. m. by the Salzburg-Arlberg express. His destination will be Tours, France.

"His highness will not travel by special car but as a regular passenger, taking perhaps two or three compartments."

Captain Greenacre then read a letter the duke had written to President Miklas.

"On the occasion of my departure from Austria," he said, "I should like to express my obligation to the president for the consideration shown by the government to me during the past months.

"At the same time I give sincerest thanks and ask you to thank particularly the police and postal authorities whose continual attention and tireless industry I have very much appreciated."

"Thanks also for the kindness shown by your lovely country, which will remain one of my most cherished memories."

The duke plans to leave for Salzburg by car immediately after lunch. Since few people in Austria are aware that another dramatic chapter in his romance has been closed, no great public commotion is expected.

MISS ALETHA WILSON TO WED J. A. RASCHELLA

Of interest to New Castleites comes the engagement news of Miss Aletha Wilson of this city and John A. Raschella, both members of the teachers staff at Ellwood City high school.

Announcement was made Saturday afternoon to an assemblage of 40 friends of the bride-elect, including co-associates at the high school, relatives and college classmates, at a beautifully appointed 1 o'clock luncheon given at a local tea room by three of her aunts. Sharing as co-hostesses were Mrs. Helen Wilson of Ellwood City, Mrs. Walter Ealy of Beaver and Mrs. M. J. Blackwood of New Castle.

Spring appointments were cleverly combined with the nuptial motif in the table decorations, where a delicious menu was served. Concealed in the novel candy favors marking each place, were midget scrolls, neatly tied with ribbons in pastel colors, which read "Aletha and John June 5". Much excitement ensued, and many good wishes were extended the bride-to-be by those surrounding her.

Informal diversions claimed attention afterwards, the main pastime being found in "Pick-Up-Sticks". Prizes were awarded to Miss Iva Jackson, Apollo, Mrs. Vernon Fisher of Portersville and Miss Mary Reid of Ellwood City.

Miss Wilson is a graduate of New Castle high school and Geneva college, and has been teaching in the Ellwood City high school for the past several years. Mr. Raschella, a graduate of Ellwood City high, is also a member of the graduating class of Geneva college, and has been teaching in Ellwood high since that time. They are both popular members in their wide circle of friends.

Participants at the luncheon were present from Pittsburgh, Apollo, Butler, Pa., Beaver, Portersville, Ellwood City and the immediate vicinity.

The couple's only attendants were the bride's sister, Miss Helen Sheaffer, and Robert Stone. The bride was smartly suited in blue with gray accessories, and wore a corsage of white roses with lily of the valley.

TIME TO CHECK UP CHILDREN'S HEALTH

ORGANIZED activities for Child Health Week, now in progress have as their major theme this year the apt admonition to parents: "Learn the Facts About Your Child's Health." There could be no more sensible advice on guarding children's physical well-being. To know, not merely to guess the condition of a child's health, means periodic examinations by physicians and dentists.

To impress upon parents the need for such check-ups, so that unrecognized or potential ailments may be combated in time, and so that healthy children may be kept on the straight path to sturdy manhood and womanhood, will be the aim of Health Week observances. With organized medical and dental groups co-operating with schools, clinics, recreation and child-caring agencies, family welfare groups, home and school associations, day nurseries and civic health bureaus participating, the week's activities should prove a real help to many.

Setting aside one week in the year for co-ordinated effort on behalf of child health affords an opportunity to child welfare organizations to advance their health objectives. This week will mark the fourteenth annual observance. In fourteen years the work of child health has taken rapid strides. One of the main factors in that progress has been the increasing recognition by parents of the need of periodic, thorough-going examinations of their children and putting the advice of their physicians and dentists into execution.

APPROACHING

The rumor has reached this sanctum that the New Castle stores have already stocked up on men's straw hats; nor is this surprising. When it comes to stores, no city can boast of more enterprising establishments. That they should have a complete assortment of the latest styles in summer headgear days before the date set by custom for the official opener is not in itself news.

The news is that straw hat season is just around the corner, and who would have suspected it? That is a habit of straw hat season. Few men are aware of its imminence until it bursts upon them in its startling reality. Buy a new one this year. If the old one is still good, have it renovated to wear on picnic days, when it's sure to rain, but buy a new one if only to proclaim your complete divorcement from the late depression and all that it signified.

SPELLING AND INTELLIGENCE

Dr. J. Duncan Spaeth, president of the University of Kansas City and former Princeton professor, is authority for the somewhat startling statement that poor spelling is sometimes a sign of intelligence.

It seems that at least a few of the world's outstanding statesmen have been poor spellers, that a star reporter of a metropolitan newspaper once wrote the same word four different ways and that leading authors and frequently guilty of shocking errors.

Maybe Dr. Spaeth was merely spoofing, despite this array of evidence. Average intelligence, particularly that which has been subjected to some formal schooling, would apparently imply at least a fair grasp of the spelling art.

Still, we have the word of a personal expert in one of America's major industries to the effect that high school graduates are notoriously lax in this fundamental respect. And certainly high school graduates cannot be put down as representatives of the moronic stratum.

MAKE CLEAN-UP WEEK PERMANENT

Periodic domestic housecleaning may be out of date now, but community housecleaning grows more popular. Hundreds of communities, big and little, all over the country, are now getting ready for their annual clean-up campaigns.

Plans of action include getting rid of street litter, sprucing up yards and parks, cleaning and painting public buildings and private homes, encouraging necessary repair work and new construction, and generally making the old home town look well cared for and self-respecting.

During the week dedicated to publicity and action along these lines, there is always marked improvement in the appearance of streets and yards. It is fine to concentrate a whole community's attention on such a job when it needs doing. But when will Americans get the habit of keeping their streets clean, their vacant lots free of rubbish, their buildings scrubbed or painted? When will they stop tossing bottles and candy wrappers and paper bags out of automobile windows? When will they be able to abandon a special clean-up week because they take pride in the town's appearance right along?

It is easy to recognize the wicked side in any contest. It doesn't weaken itself by dividing its forces.

The Parent Problem

CAMP BENEFITS CHILDREN

MANY CHILDREN over 10 or 12 years of age can profit from several weeks in a well-conducted summer camp. It should be especially valuable for the non-social child or the child not yet weaned emotionally.

In choosing a camp, you will want to see the plant and be assured it has good sanitary qualities. You will want to be sure the director is able for the job and a person of choice character, culture and ideals also that the counselors have culture and character, know child life and take a personal interest in children and youth. Too often the counselor is chosen on the basis of how many children he can attract to the camp. Be not easily impressed with photographs and high pressure salesmanship by the director or his representatives. Some camps, unfortunately, are run merely as commercial enterprises.

You and I are delighted that many organizations like service clubs, child caring agencies or churches, afford camping for many children and youths at nominal cost, and some indigent children are sent free. I have always admired those persons who make possible a few weeks at a summer camp for children whose parents cannot afford to send them. Some day underprivileged children will be so cared for at public expense. While in Copenhagen last summer, I saw almost no children between eight and 12 on the streets. Upon inquiry, I learned that these children were in the country on farms. Many of the farmers were keeping these children without pay, being happy to do so; some, however, received a small amount for this service. It seems to me those farmers must have a peculiar interest in children, since the care of them means self-sacrifice and heavy responsibility.

Useful Work To Do

I wish there were some camps where children had to do useful work for a few hours each day—physical labor—alternated with play and rest. A criticism I have on most summer camps is that they lack provision for furthering serenity; on the contrary, they magnify the jitters of the home and school, the child having very little opportunity for repose. He must participate in mad competition nearly all the day. Not very good mental hygiene in that.

A mother who has studied in my classes for parents at the university lately wrote me of her ideas of a camp—and she is directing a small one at her home.

"The caliber of the counselor and the serenity of the children—the spiritual and invisible—are, I believe, the vital factors in the suitable environment of children. . . . These qualities are so intangible, however that parents seldom realize their lack in looking over a camp."

IN A HUSBAND'S HEART

"The other day," said a husband, "I told my wife what was in my heart. We've been married 25 years and I'm not much of a hand for talking about my feelings. I mean my deeper feelings; I don't have much difficulty putting my irritation or peevishness into words. But I have trouble telling people that I love them.

"For some months, though, I've feared my wife thought I didn't love her any more. So I told her I did. I told her how good and patient and unselfish she is. I told her how fine a mother she'd always been, how perfect a wife. And I told her what a thrill it always was to me whenever I met her unexpectedly on the street. . . . I tried to make her see how much it meant to me to be married to her, how my love for her had gone deeper and deeper into me until it was a living, essential part of all I felt and did.

"I told her I knew how gloomy and glum I sometimes was, but I wanted her to know that beneath that grouchy exterior of mine was a steady happiness that no bad luck, misfortune or tragedy could destroy—as long as she was a part of my life.

"Life without her would be no life at all and I couldn't even imagine how it would be to have any other woman for my wife. I could imagine better husbands for her, but no better wife for me. And I knew that the luckiest moment in my life was when she came into it."

* * *

"Did you really tell all that to your wife?" I asked this husband.

"Well, not exactly. I started to say it, but I couldn't get all the words out of me. And I finished my confession finally by just putting my arm around her shoulders and giving her a hug. And she seemed to get the full idea of what I was trying to say."

"I think any woman would," said I.

DETECTIVE QUESIONS SHOPLIFTERS: LOSES

Detective Blanchard Bolander, of Parson, Kas., questioned a pair of suspected shoplifters and released them. An hour later he discovered his tobacco pouch, gloves and glasses were missing.

Police Chief Bill Miller said:

To which Bolander replied:

"Anyway, they didn't get my gun."

BUILT FOR NINE

That new $10,000,000 home of the Supreme Court of the United States is far too large for nine justices but is likewise too small for 15, according to an article in the current Life magazine. It is a magnificent structure, with palatial suites, and whole sections of it are empty. The nine elderly judges have little need for most of the mansion, originally planned by Chief Justice Taft, designed by Cass Gilbert, taking three years to complete.

At the same time the principal rooms were built to accommodate just nine justices. That includes the bench in the great courtroom. Hence it would not be comfortable nor in keeping with the court dignity should there be 15 justices as proposed in the sensational recommendations of President Roosevelt. The costly and recently opened palace of justice would require changes to take care of the additions.

So here we have another reason to leave well enough alone. It was supposed that the present membership would continue indefinitely and it would not be in keeping with traditions for the justices to stand up or crowd each other in the doorways.

The judges are conservative in their personal habits and desires, and have little use for all the fuss and feathers. Despite the magnificence of the setting they haul in their own personal possessions and conveniences to provide comfort. They are not enthusiastic for this everlasting reform that stirs up the dust and disturbs the quietude of comtemplation.

Collapse In England Is Aired. Speculators Blame Chamberlain. Roosevelt Foresaw Condition.

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Columnist

". . . AND THE atmosphere generally was one of blackest pessimism." So reads a dispatch from London, concerning one of the recent black days on London security exchanges.

The speculative pyramid had collapsed.

Financiers were blaming the new tax plan of Chancellor of the Exchequer Chamberlain — a plan which would put the rearmament costs on firms and persons who would benefit by these vast governmental expenditures.

(Speculators invariably fail to blame themselves.)

The attacks on Mr. Chamberlain are even more ferocious than the attacks of some American business men on President Roosevelt. This is interesting, for Mr. Chamberlain is the high behemoth of the Tories, destined to become prime minister following the coronation.

It is interesting for still another reason. Previously, Mr. Chamberlain had not been any too popular with the electorate. Now, since his tax bill and the attacks of the financiers, he has gained considerable poplarity.

* * *

ANY ALTERNATIVE?

Suppose the British financiers desire to "punish" the Troy government and have it thrown out. To whom could they turn? Nobody can be more conservative than the Tories. There is only one other opposition party worthy of note—the Laborites. The financiers would not, of course, turn to them.

The same may become true in the United States. If opposition does rise up in sufficient force to down President Roosevelt, or his successor, who will take over the reins? The Republicans? If the European trend has any counterpart here, it will be some radical faction to the left or the right. Each kind absorbs capital.

* * *

SAW IT COMING

In private conferences for the last few weeks, President Roosevelt predicted the economic blowup abroad. He evidently believes the worst is yet to come.

His efforts to impose economy on congress have been taken with a grain of salt by many. Mr. Roosevelt believes that so-called "social spending" is a public investment—and "social spending" often requires much more money than a hard-headed man is willing to grant as necessary.

Aside, however, from social spending, Mr. Roosevelt is consistently economical. He is very much opposed to congressional log-rolling. If you will observe congress carefully, you will see that some of the biggest talkers for economy are the biggest log-rollers, and do not hesitate to drain the public treasury for their own constituencies.

* * *

FARM MEASURES

The economy move has forced aside the proposed farm bills.

Our guess is that they will not be put aside for long.

If they are, farmers assuredly will join with the John L. Lewis C. I. O. forces—and Farmer-Laborites will be able to carry nearly every seat in congress.

Observers of this column report that the trend toward the left of Roosevelt is increasing, not decreasing.

Thus, one may guess, farm appropriations and "social expenditures" will increase, rather than decrease, in the long run.

So will taxes. As in England.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

"BARON" OF SANTA CRUZ

Santa Cruz Island, off the coast of California, in the Santa Barbara Channel, is the last of the kingdoms which from the days of Carlotta and Maximilian always had been signed to a new owner with full feudal rights—that is, until Fremont claimed California for the United States.

The island is twenty-nine miles long and eight miles wide and it was conveyed to Andres Castillero by Governor Alvarado in 1838, and there Castillero ruled as a Medieval Baron over a little empire stocked with horses, cattle and sheep, its upland slopes covered with vineyards and in the mountain slopes wild boars roamed at will and upon occasion, Castillero staged hunts of the boar. Wild boars still roam the island, but although the owners have just sold it, the heirs of Justinian Caire for years supported themselves from the vineyards and from the sale of cattle, wool and mutton. The new owner paid $1,000,000 for the island and the empty title of "Feudal Lord of Santa Cruz Island".

This great insular property has a shore line, notched with several protected harbors. There leeward indentations of the coast have harbored many yachts of the Santa Barbara Yacht Club fleet during southeastern storms, which bring the rain to Southern California.

The purchaser plans to use the 55,000 acres which lie almost twenty miles off Santa Barbara as a model California hacienda with modern conveniences never dreamed by the caballeros of the Spanish regime. An airport enabling him to commute from Santa Barbara to the majestic fastness of Santa Cruz will be the first development.

Times change and we change with them.

THE WEDDING'S OVER

The wedding's over! Maybe now
Life will resume its normal pace,
And things of mine again somehow
Will be permitted cupboard space.

The weddings' over! I may be Restored to consequence once more
And they may even smile to see
My cheery presence at the door.

As one who quits a prison cell
And smiles to greet the morning sun,
I dance a jig of joy to tell
My time of banishment is done!

For months I've heard the women say
Whenever I have walked about
A man is only in the way!
All husbands should be ordered out!

But now the wedding's come and gone
And I may find my favorite chair
Restored for me to sit upon
And they may let me linger there.

Good Taste

Reg. U. S. Pat. Office.

By FRANCINE MARKEL

Do not wear lustrous or stiff fabrics, such as satin or taffeta. Avoid bright colors, plaids, ruffles and all conspicuous patterns, horizontal designs in material, very short skirts, conspicuous sashes or belts; wide light cuffs on a dark dress; flowing sleeves; very small or very large hats; a low or broad type of coiffure; a very high or a very low waistline; small pieces of jewelry.

Good suggestions for the stout figure are: Inconspicuous colors in large areas; material of a soft quality, though not too clinging; semi-loose lines—neither too loose nor too tight; clothes with vertical designs; comparatively long skirts; normal waistlines; short-haired furs; large waves in the hair; medium sized hats.

Dear Miss Markel — Please tell me how to eat crackers and cheese served after dinner?—B. M. A.

Answer—If served with a salad, a piece of cheese may be broken off and put on the salad or a cracker with the fork. At table, hard cheeses should be eaten with the fork. Soft cheeses should be spread with the knife.

Today's Yesterdays—May 3, 1469—The original "Brain Truster" was born in Florence, Italy, in the person of Niccolo Machiavelli, founder of political science. A complete course in attaining political power and keeping it, is in Machiavelli's The Prince, written when he was 44 but not published until he was 63, plus Frank R. Kent's The Great Game of Politics and the later biographies of Mark Hanna and Boies Penrose.

Machiavelli wrote the book, a realistic study of government, in hopes of getting a political office from a local Florentine regime; it caused him to be consulted by secular and temporal rulers throughout Europe, and Machiavellian became a common adjective.

May 3, 1810—Club-footed, incestuous George Gordon, Lord Byron, aged 22, died something else to win the ladies' hearts: he swam the Hellespont in emulation of Leander, ancient lover of Hero.

That legendary young Greek swam the 3-mile wide Hellespont (Dardanelles) each night to visit Hero clandestinely in her tower at Lesbos. One night as he was crossing a sudden storm extinguished the light in her tower by which his course was guided, and he became lost. His body was washed ashore, Hero discovered it, and hurled herself into the sea.

No one is sure which foot of Byron was crippled! Some biographies and paintings have it the left, the others the right.

P. T. A. Annual Business Meet Held Saturday

Mrs. C. R. Brenner Departs For National Meet In Richmond, Virginia

Meeting in the auditorium of the Y. W. C. A. Saturday evening, the annual meeting of the Parent-Teachers association was held with the president, Mrs. C. R. Brenner, in charge. The affair opened with Mrs. Chauncey Davis, program chairman, in charge of the following program:

Invocation by Rev. Abraham Shaffer, pastor of the Wesley M. E. church, followed by a verse of America by the entire group.' Mrs. Brenner was called upon for a reading and her topic was "The Object of the Parent-Teachers Associations".

A feature of the program was the presentation of the Jubilee singers and the boys' choir from Terrace avenue school. This was in charge of the Misses Emma and Carrie Gibbons. The choir related the story of David by song and speech in a novel manner.

The guest speaker of the evening, Dr. David Perry, spoke on the "Tuberculean Test". Miss Anna R. Perry, school principal, spoke at this time, followed by a few remarks by Dr. Paris Shoaff regarding the summer round-up Elizabeth Koski of Shenango school gave several piano selections.

Meeting was then turned back to the president, Mrs. Brenner, who conducted a business session. Mrs. Brenner was given the honor of being elected by the organization to represent it at the national convention now being held in Richmond, Va. Mrs. Brenner left on Sunday morning for this five-day convention.

Reports of the various P. T. A. groups was given by the president. An election of officers was held at this time with the following results: President, Mrs. C. R. Brenner; vice presidents, Mrs. Floyd Moore, Mrs. Leonard Cramer, Mrs. W. C. Hileman, Mrs. Harry Sturdevant, Mrs. Cole, Mrs. Ralph Watson and May McConaghy; corresponding secretary, Mrs. James Taylor; recording secretary, Mrs. Paul Allen, and treasurer, Harold Clingsmith.

These new officers were then installed with Mrs. Carrie Jeffery Roberts filling the role of installing officer.

MAKE IT TENDER

Corn right off the fire is not the height of perfection commonly supposed. It can be made even more delectable. If you will place freshly popped corn in a heated utensil and allow it to stand in a warm oven or over a pilot light for 20 or 30 minutes, you will find that it has added a delightful tenderness to its many virtues.

NEW YORK—Justice John V. Flood of the Brooklyn court of special sessions, gives his opinion on strikes: "The day is past when any employer of labor may arbitrarily refuse to sit down and talk over working conditions and wages with duly authorized representatives of his employes."

In England it is estimated that women spend more than three-fourths of the money spent in retail shops.

Civic Music Group Will Meet Tonight

Meeting tonight at 8 o'clock in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Eliah Kaplan of North Mercer street, plans will be laid by the Civic Music Association for the coming winter. Miss Barbara Schultz, president of the group said that it was anticipated that a large group of concerts will be presented in the coming winter than had been presented in the winter just past.

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Morgan Urged C. I. O. Bargain

Believed Responsible For Change In Attitude Of United States Steel

MOTOR COMPANY VICTORY CITED

Central Press
Washington Bureau
602 Times-Herald Bldg.

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist.

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Myron C. Taylor, chief executive of the United States Steel corporation, is being advertised as the captain of industry who forced his huge concern into coming to terms with John L. Lewis' labor organization on vertical lines, as distinguished from the A. F. of L.'s plan of craft unionization.

The story is that the lieutenants of Captain (of industry) Taylor were prepared to "go to the mat" with Lewis' C. I. O., but that Taylor overruled them.

Well, it is true that he did overrule them, but I have it from reliable authority that Taylor, in turn, had his orders from higher up; that is to say, from Wall Street. The House of Morgan specifically is mentioned as primarily responsible for the mandate.

* * *

MORGAN'S EXPERIENCE

J. P. Morgan, for one thing, got some useful information as to the value of favorable public opinion while a witness before the Pecora banking and currency committee investigation in Washington a couple of years ago.

He freely admitted that it was the first time he ever had been brought into close contact with the rank and file of ordinary folk. Newspapermen talked to him personally. News photographers snapshotted him regardless of his own inclination in the matter. A midget was slapped down into his lap. In short, he was humanized.

That undoubtedly had a deal to do with his present pliability—in Myron Taylor's background.

* * *

A TACTICAL GAIN

The success of the Lewis organizers in their negotiations with General Motors also unquestionably has had its part in influencing the steel magnates.

Moreover, the smaller steel companies have profited by harmonious relations with labor.

Indeed, the little fellows are said to be a bit worried, lest they lose some of their advantage as a result of the big U. S. Steel's friendlier contact with its workers.

* * *

HARLAN REACTS

The La Follette committee's inquiry into large-scale employers' activities in labor's ranks has further perturbed Wall Street advisers of industries.

It was bad enough to have them publicized as spying on unionism.

The later Harlan county revelation, involving murder, horrify even some very conservative employers elsewhere. They don't think that they ought to be confused with Harlan county medievalism, but they're afraid that they will be.

* * *

LEWIS' "INVESTIGATIONS"

Then again:

John L. Lewis' experts have delved into problems that the A. F. of L., under President William Green, never bother with.

Have business set-ups been crooked?

Has the public in general (regardless of labor) been flim-flammed?

The subject is one which big employerdom does not care to have ventilated.

* * *

PACIFYING LEWIS

The nub of it is that the Lewis movement needs to be, not crushed (that's impossible), or hushed up (that's impossible, too), but pacified.

Wall Street is engaged in doing it.

It will be interesting to see how it works out.

* * *

FARMER-LABOR LEADER

Will there be a farmer-labor leader?

I can see labor's leader; not the farmers', yet. Milo Reno, but he's dead.

There ought, really, to be a farm investigation, similar to Senator La Follette's industrial investigation.

Basically urban and rural rights are the same.

They can't, respectively, see it.

Mistletoe was held in deepest veneration by the ancient Druids, who cut it with a gold knife.

Pennsylvania Leads Nation In Quarry Work

Census Bureau Makes Report On Limestone Quarries And Work

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent New Castle News.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 3.—Pennsylvania leads the nation in products of limestone quarries and finishing plants operated by quarry companies, according to a survey by the Census Bureau.

The bureau found that in 1935 the value of products turned out by such quarries and plants in the Keystone state totaled $7,710,162. This placed Pennsylvania far in the lead, New York coming second with $5,606,730. The value of such products in the country as a whole was placed at $55,544,302.

Pennsylvania also led the nation in number of persons employed in the industry and in wages and salaries paid. The quarries and finishing plants in the Keystone state gave employment to an average of 4,255 wage earners and paid them wages aggregating $3,598,690 in 1935. The industry further employed 367 salaried employees and paid them salaries of $774,982.

During the year, the Pennsylvania quarries and finishing plants spent $1,999,117 for supplies and materials, $756,178 for fuel and $569,874 for purchased electric power.

Two Fraternities Will Be Merged

Unusual Reunion Event Is Taking Place At Westminster College

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, May 3.—Thirty-two years ago on Westminster college campus, in 1905, three indignant athletes walked out on their fraternity brothers in the Phi Rho Phi house, then known as the Kelly house; and formed a new fraternity, to which they gave the name Delta Sigma Phi.

The reason for the argument, it seems, was that the Pi Rho Phi quarterback had given the Kappa Phi Lambda boys, then the only other fraternity on the campus, the ball too many times during the course of a football game. Irked by his fraters' criticism, he and two other Pi Rho's jilted their fraternity and formed one of their own. The new fraternity group immediately achieved popularity and succeeded in gathering in most of the athletes, until in 1917 the fraternity was completely wiped out, when all of its members joined the army at America's entrance into the World War.

After the War, the fraternity was revived; and again became the athletic leaders on the campus. In the meantime, the Pi Rho Pi chapter went national in 1924, joining the ranks of Theta Upsilon Omega national fraternity. For years, the two fraternities have been the leaders in athletics on the campus; leaving the other two, Kappa Phi Lambda and Phi Pi Phi to pledge the men chiefly interested in activities, dramatics and music.

And now after thirty-two years of athletic rivalry, Delta Phi Sigma is again to lose its identity; and merge with Theta Upsilon Omega. Thus, will the boys who strode indignantly out of the fraternity house in 1905 return to shake hands with their fraters, and sit around the same fireplace.

In five men have been placed the governing power of the two groups, four of whom are athletes: Ray Elliott, varsity tennis star; Charles Jones, varsity football center; Paul Backus, Titan basketball center; Earl Wright, varsity tennis and football player; and John Ruffalo.

REV. J. A. TINKER IS RE-ELECTED SECRETARY

Rev. J. A. Tinker, pastor of the Maitland Memorial church of New Castle, has been re-elected secretary of the Pittsburgh District, at the Pennsylvania Primitive Methodist conference in Johnson City, N. Y.

Rev. Alban Tippans, Plattsville, Pa. was named western district secretary to succeed Rev. Joshua Reed of New Diggins, Pa.

The proposed unification of the Methodist Episcopal church, North and South, and the Methodist Protestant Church, is one of the matters brought up at the convention.

Serve crisp toast often to growing children, or something similar, which they will be compelled to chew. Such exercise is necessary for good tooth nutrition, says the U. S. department of agriculture.

New Local Airport Being Constructed

If all plans work out as now planned, New Castle will have a new private airport by Memorial Day, May 30. That is the hope of Findley C. Wilson, planner and owner of the new field. Work is now under way at a plot of 45 acres along the Youngstown road, about three miles from town, preparing the ground for runways.

This new port will be located about one-fourth mile this side of Parkstown Corners, on the right hand side of the Youngstown road. Preliminary work of removing trees and stumps, filling holes, and removing rocks and stones from the ground is now under way. When this is completed the territory will be ready for the proposed runways.

The ground being used is that belonging to Wylie Wallace and Jack Fee. Space is being provided near the road for automobile parking and concession stands. Behind this given space, one runway about 2000 feet long will be constructed. This runway will run from near the Youngstown road in a direct line to the old airport farther out on the road.

In the rear of this proposed runway is a wooded section, and to the rear of this another runway will be constructed. This runway will cross the other and make an X formation, with the end being located nearly to Parkstown Corners, being 2300 feet in length.

Possibility of this site being completed by May 30 is good. No plans have yet been made to erect a hangar building on the new ground. Space will be provided, however, for this building and it will be built later. In the meantime the old hangar at the present port will be used, with the planes being taken to the new field whenever they are to be flown.

According to Wilson, the reason for the construction of this new port is because of the delays which have been encountered in constructing the new municipal port.

Wilson, who is an instructor at Washington school, Union township, now owns three airplanes located at the old port. These will be flown at the new site upon its completion, and will be quartered there after the new hangar is built.

Both of the runways at the new port will be a packed earth surface, similar to the former runways at the old port, and will be serviceable throughout most of the year. A tractor is being used today to remove the small trees and stumps, while the larger ones are being cut down and the stumps removed with explosives.

NATIONAL RETAIL CREDIT ASSOCIATION CHARACTER
Of Course You Pay — But When?
Some people have the mistaken idea that so long as they pay a bill (no matter if it takes them a year to do so) that it is a good account and that their credit record should be PROMPT PAY.
That may have been the system of business many years ago, but today the merchant must do business in a 1937 way, not in a 1900 way.
Today prompty pay is THIRTY TO SIXTY DAYS, and if you drag your account out over a period of months, you can't expect to be rated "prompt pay". Neither can you be rated "prompt pay" on a lease account if you fail to pay as you agreed.
Your paying habit record is recorded in the files of the New Castle Credit Exchange. More than half a million business transactions are now recorded.

STREAMLINING IS EXPLAINED

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, May 3.—Diary: A cheerful telegram from W. C. Fields that he is top gallant again and a pleasantry from Matt Carney. Also a season ball pass from Ford Frick. So breakfasting with Will Hays against his offing for California and looking at topcoat samples at Earl Benham's, liking one suggesting a belted rainbow.

O. O. McIntyre

At my desk and all the headlines are of strife and I discussed with my wife President John O'Hara's invitation to visit Notre Dame University, also to pop in on the gang at Cincinnati, see our little honeymoon walk-up in Newport, Ky. and have a few of Minnie Scholl's delicious yum yums.

Mrs. Chester Geppert Marsh, a talented lady of our school days, to dinner and stay the night and we had beaten round steak. And then to see the much talked of play, "Excursion". Afterward to Jules Glaenzer's party for Rodgers and Hart and later stopped in a moment at Conde Nast's reception for Clare Boothe, Ilka Chase and Margalo Gillmore.

Many vast Long Island, Westchester and Jersey estates thrown on the market are seen by prospective buyers in the manner of the movie world. Those interested visit the projection room of a real estate office and are shown on the screen every nook and corner of the estates. Approach with various close-ups of the ground and landscapings. Also a personally conducted tour through every room in the house. In a few moments the observer has a comprehensive size-up that would otherwise take an entire day.

The perfect composite or type of society girl as viewed in the newspaper prints: Hard-boiled, dead pan, bold, expressionless, confident, colorless, straight-forward, without humour, charm or originality. A painted, powdered society robot.

Add 1937 hilarities: The dignified J. P. Morgan in silk hat chasing newspaper photographers with a raised umbrella.

Streamline takes its name from the shape of a cake of ice floating down stream. It melts into the shape of a whale. The falling raindrop is really flattened by air resistance and surface tension—the most mysterious force in physics. I hear they have built some rear drive, whale shaped cars, most efficient of all, but the public will not have them yet. Auto engineers have already figured out the exact form of the Ultimate Car and also the steps leading to it. As fast as a competitor changes from No. 5 to No. 6, the company begins also to manufacture No. 6. The public will not get the Ultimate for some years.

I have become one of the increasing fans for a gentle little comic strip called Little Miss Muffett. The drawings are charming and the story, too. I understand the artist, Fanny Cory, is putting her boy through college with this strip. She lives out in Montana. It is easy to psychoanalyze drawings. They somehow reveal everything. One would know before meeting him that Bud Fisher loved the race track and Bob Brinkerhoff liked children. Many of Webster's Casper Milquetoasts suggests his own shyness. And Rube Goldberg's limnings are indicative of his high spirits away from the drawing board. One somehow knew that Tad would blurt some unusual slanginess and he never failed.

England has more than a half dozen variety hall turns performed by Americans and extremely popular, yet not known on this side of the ocean. Somewhat like Will Mahoney, all went to England for a short stay and remained on and on. Among them are R. G. Knowles, who sings and tells stories; Eugene Stratton, a blackface sentimental singer and soft shoe dancer, and George W. Street in a protean sketch in which he takes the part of two brothers—one a clergyman and the other a ne'er-do-well. Vaudeville is still quite alive in England and on the Continent.

A larger sale of horse collars in 1936 than any year since 1927 is reported by Miss Anna H. Langenbrunner, president of the only horse collar manufacturing firm in Cincinnati. Although this is the modern peak, she explains, it does not compare with the volume of 25 or more years ago. But people are buying a better grade of horse collars than they did in old years.

Rev. G. Wesley Anderson has been installed pastor of the Jamestown, Pa., U. P. church. Among the guests present at the ceremony were Rev. Anderson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Anderson, and Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Walker of New Wilmington, and Miss Ellen Hawkins of New Galilee.

One person was slightly injured and heavy property damage resulted from a crash seven miles this side of Butler on the New Castle-Butler highway, Friday at 12:30 a. m. George Millhiser of Butler received a severe laceration of the hand when his car and that of Paul Kaltenbaugh, Butler R. D. 7, collided.

Inability of James E. Griffith, ace Beaver county stenographer, to transcribe notes taken by the late Edwin S. Riddle, former Butler county court reporter, made it necessary for testimony to be taken a second time in a Butler county case last week.

Franklin Munch, 38, latest Ohio penitentiary arrival, gave Warden James C. Woodard at Columbus a problem in weight. The Cincinnatian tips the scales at 387 pounds. "He couldn't get between dining room tables to sit down at the evening meal so we had to fix him up with a special plate at the end of the table," said Dan Bonzo, chief clerk. The question of sleeping quarters for the prisoner is equally perplexing.

Babies begin to "think" at the age of three months, according to Dr. Donald B. Lindsley of Cleveland, O. His deduction comes as the result of recording the "brain waves" of 54 adults and 100 children. He also discovered that women think faster than men, "as a general rule".

Books of the delinquent tax collectors of the various wards, townships and boros began coming in on Saturday. The collection of delinquent taxes is over and the taxes uncollected will be filed against the properties.

Not all of the books were in the hands of the county commissioners on Saturday but probably will be within the next few days.

Preliminary steps towards procuring the necessary equipment for permanent registration in the rural districts was taken by the commissioners Saturday. The advertisements for bids on the equipment are being made ready and will be ready for publication within a day or two.

Registration days will be set in June and July and sometime about 30 days before the primary in September. Registrars will sit at the various polls throughout the rural districts and voters will be registered.

The probalities are that the totals will show a decrease from the present registration, at least for some time. For years a voter in the rural districts has been registered by an assessor and the voter did not need to go to the polling both to get himself qualified to vote.

Now the rural voter is in the same class as the city voter. He must present himself, be identified and qualify before his name is put down. Once on the books he is registered for a period of five years. Following the registration days set out above, it will be necessary for voters to come to the court house to register, or to change party affiliations.

Why Laxatives Fail In Stubborn Constipation

Twelve to 24 hours is too long to wait when relief from clogged bowels and constipation is needed, for then enormous quantities of bacteria accumulate, causing GAS, indigestion and many restless, sleepless nights.

If you want REAL, QUICK RELIEF, take a liquid compound such as Adlerika. Adlerika contains SEVEN cathartic and carminative ingredients that act on the stomach and BOTH bowels. Most "overnight" laxatives contain one ingredient that acts on the lower bowel only.

Adlerika's DOUBLE ACTION gives your system a thorough cleansing, bringing out old poisonous waste matter that may have caused GAS pains, sour stomach, headaches and sleepless nights for months.

Adlerika relieves stomach GAS at once and usually removes bowel congestion in less than two hours. No waiting for overnight results. This famous treatment has been recommended by many doctors and druggists for 35 years. Take Adlerika one-half hour before breakfast or one hour before bedtime and in a short while you will feel marvelously refreshed.

'Sweated Homework' To Be Regulated

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, May 3.—Pennsylvania, declared Secretary of Labor and Industry Ralph M. Bashore today, is about to strike a "lethal" blow at those who exploit women and children in "sweated industrial homework".

Gov. George H. Earle, said Bashore, is expected to sign a measure regulating industrial homework shortly, after the attorney general's office has studied it.

"Thousands of little children, many of them little more than infants, will be released from conditions that were tantamount to industrial slavery," he declared.

Walnut St., York, Pa., said: "I was thin and pale, was barely able to do my housework and was so depressed. I had no appetite. One day I decided to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription as a tonic. I began to feel better after a few days so I continued its use over a period of several weeks and I enjoyed my food and gained weight and strength." Buy now! New size, tablets 80c., liquid $1.00

Read S. S. VAN DINE'S description of Sgt. McCabe's thrilling man hunt*.....

"There they are! Not more'n a quarter mile ahead of us." We'll overhaul these criminals before they reach the Bad Lands." Sergeant McCabe's voice was triumphant.

And just then a sharp explosion rent the air, and the police car leaped from the narrow road at a sharp angle and lurched crazily to a sudden stop in a rock-strewn sandy field.

"No chance now," the Sergeant complained. "They've escaped. We're beaten by a blow-out." The criminals did escape that time. But, thanks to Sergeant McCabe and his men, they were later captured.

The solution to this havoc caused by blow-outs has seemed to me to depend on the manufacture of a safer tire. That's why the invention of the Life-Saver Golden Ply by Goodrich should be "good news" to every American motorist. As one of the Goodrich engineers explained,

S. S. VAN DINE
Celebrated author of mystery thrillers

"This Golden Ply, which is now found in every Silvertown Tire, is a layer of special rubber and full-floating cords, scientifically treated to resist the terrific blowout-causing heat generated inside all tires by today's high speeds. By resisting this heat, the Golden Ply provides motorists with real protection against high-speed blow-outs."

Marble Contests Opening Tonight

City-Wide Tourney Play Starts At Schools With Scores Entered

PLAY-OFFS WILL BE NIGHTLY FEATURES

Sponsored by The Townsmen, young men's civic club, New Castle's city-wide marble tournament for boys and girls opens tonight, when scores of hopeful entrants begin play at four schools in scattered sections of the city. Hundreds have signed up as entrants.

Under the supervision of special National Youth Administration representatives, the first ring contests will get under way tonight at George Washington junior-senior high school, Ben Franklin junior high, Lincoln and Garfield and at the Mahoning school in the Seventh ward.

Play follows at other buildings tomorrow night.

With the NYA group officially running the games, the sponsors will have representatives present to see to it that no hitches develop and that the playing schedule is fully carried out.

Trip Awaits City Champ

The eliminations of tonight are the first of the evening series that will determine New Castle's marble champ—the lucky fellow or girl who will go to Wildwood, N. J., in July to play in the annual United States tournament with crack players from all parts of the country.

Heading The Townsmen committee supervising the tournament is Daniel H. Treloar, Jr., President Dean M. Staley is assisting him.

Alfred H. Owens will be overseer for the North Hill division games, John R. Hodge for the South Side games, Don Thompson for the East Side games and Lauri G. Laurell for the West Side contests.

Co-operating in every way in drawing up the playing schedules are the physical education instructors of the schools. They will keep the elimination games on schedule.

The semi-final and final eliminations will be over by the first of June, tournament leaders said.

Hodge Townsmen Champ

Just to acquaint themselves with the 1937 contest rules and to find out how much playing skill they can boast, members of The Townsmen, the sponsors, held a miniature marbles tourney of their own at Boyles field Saturday afternoon.

In that play John R. Hodge took champ honors, outplaying Treloar, runner-up.

DIRECT RELIEF SHOWS DECREASE

For Four Consecutive Weeks Decrease In Relief Rolls Has Been Shown

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, May 3—"New jobs and increased earnings in private employment," along with activity of the federal works program attributed today to the fourth consecutive weekly drop in Pennsylvania's direct relief rolls.

During the week ending April 24, according to the state emergency relief board, the rolls were relieved of 2,506 cases, or 9,523 persons which dropped the total number still to be cared for by the commonwealth to 472,530.

Decrease Shown

Exclusive of administration and "special programs," the week's expenditures for direct relief was reported at $1,138,633, a decrease of $19,085 from the previous week.

"A portion of the works program employes who are finding jobs in private industry are being replaced by employable persons from the direct relief rolls, and the number so replaced exceeds the number of those dropped from the works program who are finding it necessary to again seek direct relief," said Karl De Schweinitz, SERB director. "It is thus apparent that private employment has played a larger part in the reduction of the direct relief rolls than the figures indicate."

POETRY GROUP TO MEET ON TUESDAY

A work train struck the rear of Kessell's machine, spinning it around, but the train was derailed by the accident and one workman was injured slightly. Kessell took the injured trainman to a hospital in his car.

Writer Prepares To Retire At 80

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA — Agnes Repplier, writer of trenchant essays that have brought her international literary fame, is preparing to put a period to her career.

Now engaged in writing what she says is her last book, Miss Repplier says it is time to stop writing when one reaches 80, her present age.

The book on which she is now working will consist of essays and will have a long prefatory note, she said, that will be a kind of literary autobiography. All of her manuscripts are written in long hand with a pen before being transcribed by a typist.

Spend Too Little Time Teaching Students To Work With Hands

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, May 3.—"We spend too much time teaching students to work their minds and too little with their hands", believes Professor Harold L. Brennan, Westminster college art department head. "Creative art, leather tooling, sketching, jewelry making, and other crafts are excellent nerve-preservers and mental-relaxers in an age when too much complex-thinking is done."

The art department at Westminster, through various hand-craft courses, supplemented by background lectures, stresses the hobby-feature of art. If you want to make dad a tobacco pouch, your collegian friend a pocketbook, or your girl an engagement ring, these all belong to the crafts classes, which include stenciling, making jewelry, and working with leather, fabrics, and lacquor. Students make rings, bracelets, brooches and necklaces from gold and silver. From leather they make wallets, picture frames, women's purses, camera cases, tobacco pouches, stationery-holders, key cases, cigarette holders, and bridge sets.

"You don't know how little of the world you really see until you try putting it down in an oil or charcoal sketch", Professor Brennan tells students. "Painting gives students an opportunity to learn about colors, character in people's faces, and weather conditions that they don't understand until they have to paint them."

In art classes, students draw still life and outdoors scenes with charcoal, pencil, and crayon. Another similar form is the making of woodcuts and linoleum blocks; and designing, including the making of decorative borders, posters, and other designs. By making good designs, students learn to appreciate good art, Professor Brennan believes.

Plan To Give Needy Lads Free Camp Phillips Trips

One full week at Camp M. Phillips of the Boy Scouts this summer will be reserved for underprivileged boys of this locality the Rev. A. M. Stump pastor of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran church and president of the Lawrence County Boy Scout council, revealed in a statement today.

Approved at a recent executive board session, the action, Rev. Stump explained, will make possible free camp vacations for 100 worthy boys.

A committee today had been named to secure, between now and the camp period, sponsors for the 100 needy lads. The boys need not be scouts.

Rev. Stump's Announcement

The formal statement of the scout council president read:

"The Boy Scout movement for its chief purpose the building of character and training for citizenship. Many of the extremists in our social and economic order have received their impulses thru a blurred or shortened vision due to their surroundings in early youth being left untouched by the character building agencies of our social order.

"In order to help to correct this condition, in a small degree at least, the Lawrence County Council, Boy Scouts of America, has taken definite action to fill Camp Phillips for one of the camp periods with underprivileged boys, even tho they may not belong to the Boy Scouts, in order to help them find, if possible, a different point of view of life and living. The Boy Scout Council has committeed itself to place the full camp equipment and the full camp staff at the service of such boys to give them one week in the outdoors under more favorable conditions than exist in the city streets and by-ways.

"A special committee of citizens and scouters has been delegated to find at least 100 underprivileged boys, and sponsors for them from public spirited citizens, merchants, service clubs and industries of the county, at a nominal fee considerably below the regular camp rates, in order that the Boy Scout organization may serve a group not usually reached by the organized scout troop.

ACCIDENT VICTIMS LEAVE HOSPITAL

Two victims of automobile accidents in the city last week who have been undergoing treatment in the Jameson Memorial hospital, have recovered sufficiently to return to their homes.

Miss Annetta Malazzi of South Cedar street, who was struck by an automobile on Cherry street April 28, returned to her home over the week-end.

Peter Maturo of East Washington street, who fell from a truck, also returned home over the week-end.

Plant 300,000,000 Years Old Found

(International News Service)

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 3—Half a billion years ago, more or less, there appeared on barren wastes of land—probably on a muddy shore—a small plant shoot without leaves or flowers.

It was the first living thing to stand erect on the face of the earth—a departure from the weak, spineless plants strewn on the surface of murky waters. Here was the first creation of nature which could stand independent, alone.

The plant was covered by a waxy substance. It wilted and died, while others grew up in its place and gradual evolution through eons of time generated the transition to our plant and shrubbery-filled modern age.

World's Oldest Plant

That first plant died—but it did not decay. Its wax covering rendered it almost impervious to the elements for half a billion years.

Today William C. Darrah, brilliant young Harvard paleobotanist, announced discovery of the world's oldest plant fossil. It was made possible by his newly perfected process by which a transparent cross-section, one 25-thousandth of an inch thick may be "peeled" from a fossil for microscopic study.

Experimenting with a section of black oil shale brought from northern Europe, Darrah discovered the shale contained tiny pores barely visible to the naked eye.

Three-Pointed Star

The spores bore a small, three-pointed star characteristic of the early stages of the growth of higher plants not found in the jelly-fish type water plants.

Darrah's discovery nearly doubled the previous estimate of the age of the first erect plant life. Other available evidence had indicated that plant life first emerged from water in the uppermost silurian period, a little less than 300,000,000 years ago.

Scared Before A Speech? That's O.K., Says Prof.

PITTSBURGH, May 3—Scared stiff when you get up to make a speech before an audience? Then you'll do better than the speaker who suffers no stage fright at all according to results of experiments by Charles W. Lomas, director of the Men's Debating association of the University of Pittsburgh.

There is no exact prescription for treatment of stage fright, Mr. Lomas points out in an article, "The Psychology of Stage Fright," in the current Quarterly Journal of Speech. But Mr. Lomas offers several hints to people who find their hands hot and mouths dry when they face an audience.

The Pitt teacher points out three common methods of treatment for victims of stage fright:

1. The vigorous action theory. "This theory assumes that the chemical condition responsible for the emotion can be worked off." But Mr. Lomas thinks vigorous action alone helps little.

2. The shift-of-attention theory. "This theory argues that stage fright may be mastered by handling objects on the stage, taking deep breaths and walking." He points out they may help master the fright, but they don't improve—in fact, may detract attention from—the speech.

3. The have-a-message theory. "History is full of examples of inarticulate men who became speakers by having a message to portray . . . Moses . . . Joan of Arc . . . Samuel Adams . . . Booker T. Washington." Mr. Lomas says he finds students "all worked up" on their subject don't stumble or stutter.

In an experiment with high school students he found those "scared stiff" before their speeches but calm when once started talked more fluently than those never frightened at all. Downright poor speeches were made by students who didn't lose their fear.

VENDOL IS THE FINEST MEDICINE I EVER FOUND SAYS NEW CASTLE LADY

Mrs. Gilkey Had Awful Gas, Bloating And Heart Palpitation From Gas Pressure. Felt Weak And Worn-out. Says Vendol relieved Constipation And All Troubles Disappeared.

MRS. W. R. GILKEY

All over this city and nearby towns, people are talking about Vendol, the amazing new medicine which is a combination of Alkalines with roots and herbs, now being introduced in this city at New Castle Drug Co., by the Vendol Man. Hundreds of the very best people are speaking out publicly telling how Vendol has helped them. For instance:

Mrs. W. R. Gilkey of 450 Countyline St., New Castle, whose husband is employed by Steel Car Forge Co., in Ellwood City, says: "For several years I have been a victim of gas and bloating misery in my stomach. After my meals, I always got so full of gas that I felt terrible around my waistline, and the gas would even cause a pressure way up in my chest and made my heart palpitate and caused shortness of breath and a smothering feeling. Just seemed like everything I ate would ferment and turn to gas in my stomach organs and cause all the suffering I have described. Besides this, my bowels were so sluggish and inactive that I had to take strong physics, and I felt weak and worn-out continually.

"During the years I suffered I tried at least a dozen different medicines but got very little benefit from any of them. I just thought I never was going to find anything that would really help me, and then I began to hear of the astonishing benefits Vendol was giving people living right here in town who described their cases exactly like mine, so I knew Vendol was what I needed.

"I got some along with a box of the little Vendol laxative tablets and this proved to be the Finest Medicine I Ever Took. It relieved my constipation and cleansed the waste poisons that were causing all the trouble. It cleared so much gas from my stomach organs that my bloating went down and the dull, miserable feeling around my waistline was relieved. Don't have shortness of breath or heart palpitation from gas any more.

"Vendol has made me feel grand again so I gladly give my public statement and recommend this splendid medicine."

All leading druggists everywhere sell Vendol. Come to New Castle Drug Co., 31 E. Washington St., and let the Vendol Man explain fully how it will help you, too. Vendol is also sold by the New Castle Drug Co. at 24 N. Mill St.

Mother's Day Is Celebrated

Rinascenza Lodge No. 19 Annual Celebration Sunday Afternoon

Joy and contentment were supreme in King Humbert hall, Division street, Sunday afternoon, where members of the Rinascenza Lodge No. 19, Sons and Daughters of America, impressively observed Mother's Day. The occasion was easily one of the most successful events of the year for the lodge.

Prior to the festivities of the day, the organization held its monthly meeting. Plans were formulated for the annual picnic which promises to be bigger and more successful than in past years. At the close of the meeting, Angelo Fiala took charge of the program. After receiving carnations, the young ladies in turn distributed the flowers to the mothers present. The sight was most appealing. During the course of the event, Miss Dolores DiLorenzo played several piano solos which met with the approval of the group; Thomas DiVitto rendered several Italian selections.

Featuring the occasion was an inspiring address by Angelo Fiala, who served in the capacity of orator of the day. Mrs. Fiala delivered a speech on, "Mother". At the conclusion of the ceremony a delicious luncheon was served in the dining room of the hall.

The committee in charge consisted of the following officers: Ralph Morelli chairman; Sammy La Scolo, Vincenzo Parco, Oddone Di Vitto, Frank Marino and others.

TWO ARE ARRESTED

Two men who gave the names of "George Phillips" and "Claude Jewell" were arrested by Officer Charles Shepp on Saturday night for fighting in East Washington street. Each put up a $10 forfeit and failed to appear for a hearing Sunday in police court. The men were fighting when County Detective A. S. Leslie and State Policeman Al Knudsen saw them. The officers detained the men until the arrival of Shepp. The cause of the quarrel was not learned.

St. Anthony Fete Plans Are Started

Celebration June 11 And 12; Angelo Heads Committees In Charge

Plans for New Castle's annual St. Anthony's celebration on June 11 and 12 were inaugurated when celebration leaders met in a South Side home yesterday.

Joseph Angelo will be general chairman and his committee aides met with him in his East Home street home Sunday afternoon. They mapped the outline for a gala two-day observance.

Plans call for the usual band platform at the foot of the Phillips hill in the St. Vitus church section. The South Side Board of Trade band will play, with Anthony Basile as leader. On Saturday morning, the celebration's last day, there will be a high mass at St. Vitus church and a sermon by the pastor on the life of St. Anthony. The band that day will march through the city. At night a colorful fireworks display will take place.

Helping Angelo on the committee are Frank Mastrangelo, Louis Mozono, Joseph Nicklas and Carmen Nocera and others.

New Police Patrol Is Placed In Use

New police patrol is now in operation and the first person to have been conveyed to the police station was a colored woman—who gave the name of Clara Jones. She was arrested by Police Matron McKibben and Policeman Shaner at the circus ground Saturday night on a charge of drunkenness. She was discharged by Mayor McGrath on Sunday.

When asked by His Honor as to how she liked the new patrol the woman replied, according to police: "It came the wrong way," meaning, police reported, "toward the police station."

HOLLYWOOD—Ann Harding returns home with her new husband, Werner Janssen and declined an interview: " I'm too tired and too happy to do much talking."

Preparing For Role In Shakespeare Play

NEW WILMINGTON, May 3.—Miss Joyce Beatty, pretty blonde Bellevue sophomore at Westminster college, being made up for the leading role in shakespeare's favorite comedy, "Twelfth Night", produced on Saturday, May 1, for 300 Westminster college mothers on the campus for Mothers' day. Prof. A. T. Cordray, Little Theatre director, is wielding the colored pencil.

Miss Beatty, a member of Kappa Delta sorority, the Mermaid club, and the rifle and archery units, is considered by Director Cordray as an ideal Elizabethan Shakespeare type because of her fair skin, blonde hair, and perfect carriage.

PAYS DEATH PENALTY FOR DOUBLE SLAYING

Indiana County Man Is Executed

Shows Little Concern As He Stumbles To His Death In Electric Chair

REFUSES TO TALK IN FINAL HOURS

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

BELLEFONTE, Pa., May 3.—Alone and unmourned, Andy Yacas, Indiana county butcher knife slayer, stumbled to his death in the oaken chair at the Rockview penitentiary early today.

A blank un-seeing look in his eyes,he walked into the death chamber and literally fell into the electric chair at 12:31 a. m. Executioner Robert G. Elliott pushed the switch with a steady hand and four minutes later, at 12:35 o'clock, Dr. C. H. Swartz, the prison physician, pronounced him dead.

Never in the history of the prison, according to authorities, has an execution been attended with less fanfare.

Double Slayer

Yacas died for the double slaying of Mr. and Mrs. Andy Spelock, both of whom were hacked to death with a butcher knife in their home at White Station last November. Neighbors found the bodies and the 52-year-old Yacas, although he declared he had been drinking heavily for several days prior to the slayings and remembered nothing, was convicted of the murder of Mrs. Spelock.

The condemned man was accompanied to his doom by Rev. Father Francis T. McCresh, prison priest, who recited the litany for the dying. His body was unclaimed and prison officials planned to inter it late today in the institution's court-yard.

Prior to his death, Yacas refused to talk. During the day he wrote no letters and was seemingly unconcerned about the fate that awaited him. He showed the least evident concern among the group of 15 witnesses and officials who gathered in the death house to witness his execution.

Yacas' wife, who lives in Czechoslovakia, did not know her husband was condemned to death. Authorities said that Yacas, a man of poor mental calibre, did not know the name of his son who lives somewhere in Canada.

Studies Fly To Learn Upside-Down Walking

From a lowly housefly, Mae Merkle,, one of the host of thrillmakers in the Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus, derived the idea which led to her present eminence in the circus world.

It was while she rested in her hotel between performances in the course of a vaudeville engagement. She lay on her back, gazing vacantly at the ceiling when the inspirational insect crawled across her range of vision.

"Now how can it do that?" Miss Merkle caught herself wondering. Why, she thought, is a fly able to walk on a ceiling when human beings can't? It is a matter of sticky feet or some strange sort of bodily magnetism that exempts it from Newtonian laws?

The young lady acrobat pondered long before she came to the conclusion that the fly's secret must lie either in stickiness or suction.... "and if a fly can fix to stroll on the underside of a roof, why can't I?" she queried, with visions of billboards glory dancing in her head.

To shorten a long story of showmanly ingenuity, Mae at last conceived the notion of attaching soft rubber cups, bottom-side up, to the soles of her feet, and of having a smooth wooden plane suspended just under the topmost canvas of a circus tent.

It took many weary months of rehearsal, and many dizzying drops into an emergency net, before May mastered the art of strolling upside down. She had to learn just how to detach and attach her suction apparatus to avoid the ever imminent possibility of a disastrous tumble.

But that she at last achieved splendid success is manifes at every performance of Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus, coming to New Castle on Friday this week, May 7, with the longest circus parade in the city's history at 11 a. m.

Star Mail Route Contracts Let

Announcement Of Awards In New Castle District Made At Washington

(Special To The News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 3.—Award of contracts for "star" mail routes in the New Castle area was announced Saturday by the post office department, after a 60-day delay authorized by a special congressional resolution.

The awards were made despite the fact the first order of business in the senate for Monday was a bill already passed by the house authorizing renewal of "star" mail route contracts from term to term without competitive bids.

Contracts just awarded, which will run for four years, from July 1, 1937, and the annual contract price are:

From New Castle via Edinburg and Hillsville to Bessemer, 12 round trips a week, James V. Lombardo, $975 (seven bidders). Present pay is $1039.50.

From New Castle via New Wilmington to Volant, 12 round trips a week, Thomas R. McComb, $1080 (14 bidders). Present pay for the route is $1198.13.

From New Castle railroad station via Slippery Rock and Harrisville to New Castle: Thomas R. McComb, $980 (five bidders). Present pay for the route is $1075.29.

From Sharon via Farrell and Mercer to Grove City, 12 round trips a week: Major J. Graham, $1488 for half the route and $1655 for the other half (three bidders). Present pay is $1225.84.

From Mercer via Jackson Center, Stoneboro, Sandy Lake and Polk, to Franklin, six round trips a week: John R. Porter, $1565 (one bid). Present pay is $1202.25.

From Sheakleyville to Hadley, six round trips a week: Kennedy H. Graham, $389 (one bid). Present pay, $289.89.

Says Many Collegians Read Etiquette Books

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, May 3.—"Rereading a novel is like eating warmed-over pancakes," believes Miss Mildred Ailman, Westminster college librarian. "Gone with the Wind" may be today's best seller, but in several years it will be "just another book."

Poetry is different, the librarian believes.

"Each time you glance over a few lines of poetry, you discover a new hidden meaning that you never noticed before,' she commented.

Detective stories? A waste of time, Miss Ailman believes. She prefers children's books because of their natural humor: Winnie the Pooh, Now we are Six, and Caddie Woodlan.

"I'm not a good puzzle solver," Miss Ailman admitted. "I don't get any kick out of trying to figure out which butler poisoned the maid."

The Westminster librarian's hobby is "the outdoors". After library hours, she likes to don a leather coat and tramp miles into the woods to broil a steak over an open campfire. In summer, she prefers swimming, especially the crawl, and surface dive.

Is a library an interesting place to work. Absolutely.

"You'd be surprised to know the number of boys that read etiquette books," she remarked. "They come in blushing and looking as though they had just swallowed a pin as they stammer out a request for Emily Post's do and don'ts book."

Fiction ranks first with collegians in readability; with biography and science close seconds.

Reading in bed? Miss Ailman thinks it isn't worth it. Too easy to drop off to sleep and wake up with a cramped neck.

Construction Is On Upswing

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, May 3.—Reaching the highest level since the "boom" days of 1929, building construction in Pennsylvania is continuing on the upward swing, the Labor and Industry Department disclosed today.

"While complete reports are not available for the month of April", said Secretary Ralph M. Bashore, "Analysis of statistics for the month of March and the first three weeks of April show that for every $100 spent for an average month during 1933, more than $946 was spent during March, with an additional increase for April."

Mercer Plant Is Working Steadily

MERCER, May 3.—Employing a force of 75 men, the Reznor Manufacturing company's plant is working on a full time production schedule with present orders far in advance of the peak of recent years. There is heavy demand for radiant and the new type circulating air heaters. With the revival in the building industry, there also is increasing inquiry for pipe hooks, manufactured by the company. If the demand continues the company will enjoy one of its best years since the depression begun.

AROUND CITY HALL

With good weather apparently having arrived, it is possible that better progress will be made on city-WJA projects. Stone has been taken to Sumner avenue for the base. The thoroughfare is to be given a bituminous material top.

All of the cable has not yet been stretched between the guard posts in Rural avenue.

Concessionaires at Cascade Park will soon be given contracts to sign by the director of parks. It will also be known soon who will operate Rainbow Terrace this season.

It is hoped that some plan will be worked out by the city whereby this summer weeds will be cut down between the curb and sidewalk on thoroughfares.

THIS STATE OF PENNSYLVANIA

SUMNEYTOWN

Do you know that Sumneytown, Montgomery County, can point to a history that was replete with action?

The town is located about one mile from Green Lane, which is on Route 29. In the Revolutionary days powder mills were located here. At one time dynamite was manufactured here. Grist mills sprung up. For many years a German newspaper was published in this town, which is one of the oldest post offices in the county. One of Montgomery County's oldest hotels was located in the village. During the Revolution a skirmish took place between two local factions that furnished food supplies for the two opposing armies. At an early date an education building was erected with State aid and public subscription. A lottery was held to raise money. The institution was named Sumneytown Academy. Grandfather clocks were made here and some of them are still being sought by antique dealers. The town also had the distinction of manufacturing the oddest smoke pipe ever made. Roots of a particular tree served for the bowl of the pipe. The bowl was lined with copper and had a copper lid.

Riding Season Is Opened Sunday At Troop F Stables

Warm Weather Now Permits Younger Set To Enjoy Horseback Riding Sport

Riding season for Troop F, 103rd Cavalry was inaugurated Sunday, as quite a number of horse lovers went to the troop stables, West Washington street extension, and spent the afternoon riding about the country on horse back.

This is the first day that persons have had the opportunity to ride this season. Although the weather has been suitable during the past two weeks, riding was not permitted due to the impending federal inspection.

Thirty-two horses are quartered at the stables and prove quite popular with the younger set of New Castle. Many clubs form riding parties and enjoy the thrills of a jaunt about in the vicinity of the stables. Persons making use of the horses are always accompanied by a member of the troop, who regulates the pace and watches for the safety of all concerned.

important scene was being enacted in the grim, grey Gothic buildings housing England's law courts at the foot of the Strand, Edward, Duke of Windsor, was poised at St. Wolfgang, Austria, for instant flight to the side of her whom he immortalized for all time as "the woman I love".

They will meet within a short time at the ancient Chateau De Cande near Tours, France, where a simple ceremnoy will make them man and wife, the Duke and Duchess of Windsor, acknowledged members of the proudest family of royalty in all the world.

Case Disposed Of.

In 25 seconds the case had been disposed of. In less than half a minute the divorce for which Mrs. Simpson and the Duke had waited patiently for more than six months became final, definite and irrevocable.

Urgent telegrams were dispatched to the Duke and Mrs. Simpson by their respective attorneys the moment the decree was made absolute.

Scores of friends wired and telephoned personal congratulations, clogging the communication lines between London and Tours and St. Wolfgang.

The courtroom was only one-third filled when Justice Merriman began to read through the list of numbers.

No specific mention was made of the Simpson case—It was dealt with simply as No. 56 in its routine position.

Merriman went through numbers 1 to 78 without any delay, and then proceeded to pass upon the remaining eight cases, which were those of poor persons from the provinces.

Decrees Absolute.

In each case, the judge proclaimed the decrees absolute in a monotone which was almost inaudible in the courtroom. Neither the Duke nor the king's proctor were represented, but Theodore Goddard and Walter Frampton of Mrs. Simpson's legal staff were on hand.

The courtroom completely lacked the atmosphere of tension which prevailed a few weeks ago when the court assembled at the request of the king's proctor to rule on the intervention filed and later withdrawn by Francis Stephenson, London barrister, who for a while thought it his "duty" to forestall the divorce.

The public gallery was almost deserted and there were more than a score of vacant places in the courtroom itself. Most of the spectators were interested parties in other divorce cases on the list.

When the justice paused to say: "Does anyone appear to show cause why these decrees should not be made absolute" he raised his head for only three second and then passed upon the lot.

Following this wholesale procedure, Sir Boyd immediately began hearing an undefended action with a woman petitioner taking the stand.

Reporters, barristers and court officials seemed to be the only ones conscious of the importance of the proceedings.

Court Called To Order.

At 10:30 a. m. (5:30 a. m. E. D. T.) the court was called to order. Amid silence, all eyes turned to the small doorway through which Sir Boyd was to enter the courtroom and two minutes passed before the court clerk, attired in a black toga with a white collar, entered.

Followed immediately by Sir Boyd he called unnecessarily for "silence" and the session got under way. The moment Merriman had seated himself, the court registrar rose from his position beneath the bench and in an almost inaudible voice cited the numbers of the cases for which absolute applications had been made.

As the court registrar sat down, Merriman looked up from his paper, ran through the list and asked whether there were any appearances and then said:

"I pronounce numbers 1 to 78 and the eight remaining absolute."

There was a momentary flurry of excitement as reporters dashed out of the Victorian, oak-panelled room whose bad acoustics are its chief feature. Sir Boyd immediately passed on to the next business and the court settled down to its humdrum routine.

While Justice Merriman, in his customary judge's robe, full-bottomed wig and steel-rimmed spectacles on his nose was dealing with the divorces, another case with an American angle was being heard directly across the hall.

This arose from damage claims of 14 Americans who were involved in a motorbus accident in 1930 while enroute from London to Stratford-On-Avon, home of the immortal bard whose contributions to English literature never boasted a more dramatic story than that of the youthful king who abdicated his throne and shed the mantle of royalty for the sake of love.

Following signature of the final decrees by Judge Merriman, the list of divorces made absolute will be posted at Somerset House. Goddard will send a certified copy of the decree to Mrs. Simpson. This must be shown to the clergyman performing the ceremony when she and the Duke of Windsor are married.

A check showed that only 46 persons, including the judge and court officials, were in the courtroom during the historic proceedings.

Pitt Scientist Studies Earthquakes

Homer M. Rutherford, director of the University of Pittsburgh seismological station, keeps a careful check on earthquake shocks which his instruments, located in the sub-basement of Pitt's 42-story Cathedral of Learning, record from every part of the world. A member of the American Seismological Society's committee to aid amateurs, Rutherford has recently constructed an amateur seismograph at a cost of $5. Boy Scouts and high school students will be invited to form clubs, and will be shown how to construct instruments, Rutherford says.

LABOR VICTORY PARADE-MEETING MURRAY SPEAKS

Today we have 350,000 men organized, over 620 lodges and 96 wage agreements signed. Four months ago we were known as an agitational group. We were fighting for collective bargaining. Collectible bargaining is something wrapped up in what we call economic freedom.

"What power does an individual have when he bargains with his foreman? The foreman represents the company and back of that is billions of dollars. The individual has no power to enforce his demands and can easily be fired by the foremore. But when he presents his demands through a union he is bargaining on an equal basis."

"Now that we have this economic freedom we must cherish and protect it. I know you will exercise rare judgement in preserving it not alone for what it means today but for what it means to your children and your children's children. There are responsibilities connected with it. You must render patriotic service to your organization, to your civic organization and to your community."

"Won't Run Away"

"There are still some independent steel manufacturers that have not signed agreements. Last Thursday we spent three and a half hours with the officials of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company. They said they would abide by the same terms as the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation but would not sign an agreement. We tried to show them that when they sold a piece of metal they did it on an agreement and that men and labor were certainly as important as pieces of metal, but they refused to sign."

"The C. I. O. is against strikes. We don't want trouble, but if some of the independent steel manufacturers want to take us on, we will not run away."

"Labor is preparing to shoulder its full share of responsibility. We are not revolutionists. There is not an ism in our organization. We are Americans devoted to our country and to its constitutions. Labor is moving forward under the leadership of man labor loves and respects, the President of the United States, and under the guidance of one of the most prominent Americans, John L. Lewis. The C. I. O. has done more to organize the steel industry in ten months than the American Federation of Labor did in fifty years and this is said in no disparaging manner of the Federation."

"We have won a great victory. Let us cherish and protect it and move forward in the spirit of cooperation.

Other Speakers

Prior to Mr. Murray's speech, David Clements, chairman of the day introduced the various organization presidents on the platform. Several of them made brief speeches, Harry Davies and Norman Freeborne and T. Louis Majors. Mr. Davies asked the audience to rise for a moment in tribute to the late Lester Clark, who was an officer in the Amalgamated Association.

Mr. Majors spoke of the progress made in Lawrence County in the past few months and said the C. I. O. was sweeping the country like a prairie fire.

Mr. Freeborne, the president of the New Castle Trades and Labor Assembly brought the greetings of his organization to the meeting. Mr. Clements then asked for a motion from the floor endorsing Lieutenant Governor Thomas Kennedy for the governorship of Pennsylvania, The motion was made and carried.

Following Mr. Murray's address, Elmer Malloy of Duquesne was introduced and spoke briefly as did Paul Fasser of Farrell. A motion was put which demanded the release of Thomas Mooney from his California prison cell. It was passed and with it the authority to send telegrams to the governor of California and members of the state supreme court.

The meeting ended about 6:40. Following are the committees that were responsible for the meeting:

Executive: David J. Clement, chairman; Harry Davies, T. Louis Majors, Carlisle Kamerer, Ray Cutler, Richard Morganti, Joseph R. Hensley and Thomas Hanlon.

Publicity: Harry Hammond, chairman; Vic Bottorf, Selby Moore, Rev. S. J. Walker, Scott Kerr, Steve Wheale and P. G. Marriotti.

Ideal Day For March

The paraders marched through the downtown section enroute to the Cathedral at the stroke of 4:30. The weather for a march was ideal.

Some 20 local and out-of-town labor union delegations, most of them walking but some in motor cars and some aboard trucks, moved from their assembly point at the grounds at the Central fire station to the Cathedral as spectator throngs watched all along the route.

Up South Mercer street to East Washington, the parade moved, crossing East Washington and continuing on up North Mercer. At East North the paraders turned right and moved over North to North Mill, up North Mill and Highland hill and to the scene of their speaking program.

Davies Leads The Parade

Leading the parade was Harry H. Davies, as grand marshal. Ahead of him was an escort of uniformed city and state highway police and directly behind a color guard escort carrying American flags.

Each of the delegations had a leader. Some were presidents of the groups they led.

Out front playing martial music was the red-coated Duke of Ambruzzi band. A motorcycle squad of union paraders from Sharon rode near the band.

City police, stationed in advance at every parade route corner by Chief of Police Ralph A. Criswell, kept the avenues of march open. The delegations reached the Cathedral in quick time.

It was a labor victory celebration and the paraders carried banners to proclaim that fact.

Murray In Special Car

The day's guest of honor rode in one of the bright limousines that headed the parade. He was Philip Murray, chairman of the S.W.O.C. and the man who delivered the principal address at the Cathedral. Other S.W.O.C. aides who came with him from Pittsburgh rode with him.

Delegates to the New Castle Trades and Labor Assembly, led by President Norman D. Freeborne, marched at the front of the paraders and back of the motorcycle escort sent here by Sharon's National Maleable Steel Lodge 1477.

Other Groups In Line

Shenango Tin Mill Lodge 1215, with Ralph Cook, Art Johnson, Jonas Nocera and Harry White as leaders.

Bridegroom Says No At Ceremony

(International News Service)

BERLIN.—A bride and bridegroom stood before the registrar at Neunkirchen, Rhineland.

"And you desire to marry Miss —?" theofficial asked.

"No," replied the bridegroom bluntly.

The bride nearly collapsed. The official, almost equally surprised by the man's answer, told him to sit down and think it over quietly for a quarter of an hour.

Instead of doing so, the bridegroom rushed into the street and shouted at the wedding guests sitting in a coach ready to drive to the church: "You can all get out. The wedding is off."

He refused to say why he had changed his mind at the very last minute.

GIANTS WIN WITH MELTON IN BOX

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 3.—The New York Giants today successfully held down the role of most fortunate team in the National league. They figure to win another pennant on their pitching and infielding—but mostly on their pitching, and in the latter department their hopes now are banked to some extent on a rookie.

The good luck of the Giants in obtaining Cliff Melton from the Baltimore club of the International league daily is becoming more apparent. It looks as though they are going to have another "big four" pitching staff—but one that can win right down to the finish.

Depend On Pitchers.

There was a time when the Giants banked on Hubbell, Fitzsimmons, Schumacher and Parmelee to do the pitching, and generaly wound up disappointed, although the appellation of "big four" stuck to that combination. Last year the Giants won the pennant with a "big three"—headed by Hubbell—and some odds and ends, Parmelee having been sent to the St. Louis Cardinals, and they ought to do at least equally well in the current campaign.

They still have Hubbell, Fitzsimmons and Schumacher, who are going great and, besides, they have this young Cliff Melton, who struck out 13 in his first start, though losing, and added nine more yesterday, while winning.

He allowed the Boston Bees only four hits and won the ball game by 3 to 1.

Melton Is Good.

Only 24 years old, standing 6 feet 3 inches and weighing 203 pounds, Melton, a southpaw, looks like the answer to what the Giants need to clinch another flag.

The Chicago Cubs, among the Giants' chief rivals in the pennant dash, took a spectacular game from the Cardinals, 4 to 1, with Bill Lee hurling three-hit ball for the winners.

In another equally impressive performance Van Mungo held the Philadelphia Phillies to three hits and won by 5 to 1. Mungo fanned nine and won the game on an eighth inning rally by his mates.

Pirates Top Reds.

The Pittsburgh Pirates wound up the National league slate with a 7 to 2 win over the Cincinnati Reds.

Although 52,150 home town fans were packed into the Yankee stadium, the Yankee could do no better with the Boston Red Sox than to lose by 5 to 4, with Gehrig and Selkirk hitting homers.

Gerald Walker hit his third homer of the season to help the Detroit Tigers topple the Chicago White Sox 6 to 5, and Washington beat the Philadelphia Athletics, 10 to 7, in the only other game played. Cleveland and St. Louis were rained out.

Mercer County Game Preserve Established

(Special To The News)

MERCER, May 3.—Establishment of a game preserve of 1200 acres in Sandy Lake township of Mercer county on the part of the Pennsylvania Game commission is an assured fact as the result of the activity of Milford Bratton, an agent of the commission, who has been filing deeds here.

Three deeds aggregating 308 acres costing $2632 have been filed already with five more deeds to be put on the record. It is estimated that the preserve will cost $10,000 to be paid for out of license fees.

With the assistance of county sportsmen 1,000 seedling pine trees were planted on the preserve. It is stated that they will be the home for thousands of rabbits and birds allowable for shooting under the game laws. The tract of territory selected for the preserve is ideal because of its hilly, wooded topography.

In Western Pennsylvania there are game preserves in Venango, Clarion and Potter counties. The Mercer county preserve will mean that the fall hunting in western Pennsylvania will be just that much better for small game.

It is pointed out by sportsmen that this additional game preserve will prove a real benefit to Pennsylvania sportsmen due to the fact that the small game, especially birds, were showing less numerical strength each year and were it not for the fact that sportsmen clubs, Boy Scouts and interested friends of the wild fowl saw to their feeding during the winter months, birds would have become extinct long ago. Despite the effort put forth their number is diminishing each year, say sportsmen. Sportsmen are grateful to the state for the preserve which will make Mercer county a bird haven. The largest known bird haven in western Pennsylvania now is the lake at the Grove City Country club, where it is estimated 10,000 fowls rest and feed on their fall itinerary south and north in the spring.

Field Club Golf Opening Success

Nearly 200 Golfers Out On Course Saturday And Sunday, Trainor Medalist

Dr. George M. Trainor with a 38-37—75, was the medalist Saturday at the grand opening of the 1937 golf season at the New Castle Field club course. More than 200 golfers were on the course Saturday and Sunday in the most successful opening in the history of the club.

In the blind bogey match played Saturday the number drawn was 72. The following men were winners: R. G. Caruthers, R. W. Lamoree, R. H. Cunningham and H. C. Heck.

In Fine Shape

The course, despite the recent rainy spell, was not wet and the fairways were in fine shape. The greens were like velvet and lightning fast. In general the Field club course is twice as fine as ever before and a lot of interesting golf games will be played this year. Angelo "Dike" Monsey, pro at the club, aided the golf committee headed by J. R. Preston in making the opening day the success that it was.

Track And Field Meet Scheduled At Bessemer Hi

Bessemer High's sixth annual track and field meet will be held at the school on Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock it was announced by Coach J. K. Fredericks and Principal Nord today.

There is one record that has never been broken since the track and field meets became a reality at the Bessemer School, and that is the broad jump of 20 feet 6 inches by B. J. Stanley. Most of the other records have fallen by the boards.

In Class A the grades of 10, 11 and 12 will compete. In Class B the grades of 7, 8 and 9 will compete. There is considerable interest being displayed in the meet.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

The United States Davis cup team swept its international zone competition with Japan by winning yesterday's two concluding singles matches for a 5-0 victory in the three days singles. Donald Budge, first ranking American, won 6-2, 6-2, 6-4, over Japan's champion, Jiro Yamagishi. Previously Frank Parker had won the third singles event over Fumiteru Nakamo, 6-0, 6-3, 6-2. The play came as an anticlimax to Saturday's doubles victory when the series was clinched through the play of Budge and his national championship running mate, Gene Mako. The United States will compete in the zone finals against Australia, conqueror of Mexico. Switzerland eliminated Ireland and South Africa routed Holland. Belgium gained the second round by nosing out Hungary.

Billionaire alone will carry the hopes of E. R. Bradley in the Kentucky Derby to be run next Saturday, which means that Brooklyn, who two weeks ago was better liked than Billionaire, will not compete in the Churchill Downs classic. News of this was a surprise and followed the stunning defeat of Pomncon, Derby winter book favorite in the Wood Memorial at Jamaica. It was learned Brooklyn went to pieces after his disappointing showing last week in the Bluegrass stakes at Keeneland which was one by Fencing.

Billy Conn, youthful middleweight of Pittsburgh, tackles the veteran Vince Dundee in a boxing bout scheduled for 10 rounds tonight at Pittsburgh.

Hulme Says College Athletes Philosophers

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, May 3.—"College athletes are inherent philosophers," believes Jack Hulme, for the past eleven years trainer for the Westminster college Titans. Jack has kept a list of over 100 philosophical sayings of athletes while he has bandaged the knees and shoulders of over 500 athletes.

Among the philosophical comments of Titan players listed in Hulme's "Athletic Scrapbook" are such as these: "Every athlete should be his own trainer"; "Midnight air is poison...to an athlete"; "An unconditioned athlete is a sad spectacle"; "A shoe lace is a major matter"; "An athlete is a hero.... in season"; "Long practice is the short way to success."

In commenting on the danger in various college sports, Jack believes mountain-climbing and not football to be the hardest, most rugged, and most dangerous of all sports. After bandaging football and basketball men for a decade, Jack believes more men are injured at blocking in football than in any other way, with flying tackles coming a close second.

Concerning his favorite sport, Jack admitted, "Any sport is interesting if you see it played by the best players; but I'll take football and basketball in the long run."

Hulme until the appointment of a new coach to succeed George W. Roark, lately named W. & J. mentor, has complete charge of Titan spring sports, including golf and tennis, in addition to his regular intramural sports program.

Swift Slated To Pitch Today

(International News Service)

CINCINNATI, O., May 3.—Pie Traynor's Pittsburgh Pirates were on top of the National League heap again today, carried to the top by Joe Bowman's slab victory over the Cincinnati Reds. The score was 7-2.

The Pirates are to meet the Reds in another skirmish here today with Bill Swift slated to do the twirling.

Breezy Sport Notes Around Pennsylvania

By DICK SHANER
International News Service Sports Writer

PITTSBURGH, May 3.—Gleanings from here and there:

Struggling pros will have their hands full when they tackle the Pittsburgh field club's 18-hole course here during the latter part of the month. Scene of the national PGA tournament, the course is rated as one of the toughest in the state. Each green is well-bunkered and well-guarded, and most 100 hazards splotch its 6,600 yards, a real menace to low scores. Denny Shute is the defending champ.

Unperturbed as ever, Billy Conn, Pittsburgh's youthful middleweight takes on his second ex-champ Vince Dundee here tonight. And although Dundee, now on a comeback campaign, avows he'll snap Conn's 25-fight win streak with a knockout, Billy just sits back and smiles, confident that he'll have another scalp hanging on his belt by this time tomorrow. He probably will, too.

Philadelphians take silver-haired Connie Mack as a matter of fact... But out on the road, sports fans jam around the veteran pilot of the Athletics to pay tribute to him. He is a big drawing card no matter where he goes, lionized on every occasion by strangers seeking either a hand-shake or an autograph.

Fishing and golfing must be a good way to get in shape for baseball. At least that's the way it appears right now, according to the National League first week batting averages. Paul Waner, the Pirates' star holder-outer who whiled away the spring practice season by fishing and golfing down in Florida, paced the National loop hitters the first week with a .526 average. Gerald Walker of Detroit led the boys in the other major loop.

As a team though, the Pirates didn't rate so well in the first week's compilation. Ballyhooed as the team with stick power galore they were ranked fifth with a .244 average. The "Gas House" gang from St. Louis with a .310 average, headed the list. The Phillies were in line right behind the Pirates with .241. In the American League, the A's showed up in the seventh place with .254 quite a distance behind Boston which had .351.

Cincinnatians are probably cussing the very day they traded Pitcher Red Lucas to the Pirates. On the Reds' staff for eight seasons, Lucas was swapped to the Corsairs before the 1934 campaign. Since then he has faced his former team mates 13 times, winning 12 games against one defeat. Some jinx.

TALES IN TIDBITS

By BILI BRAUCHER
Central Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, May 3.—Another "Illinois Thunderbolt?" Well, Ken Overlin may not be quite a Billy Papke, but the lad from Decatur carries some big guns for a middleweight...and he'll have his chance to prove their power on May 4 in Seattle Civic auditorium when he meets Freddie Steele, with the championship at stake.

Offhand, you might say a battler of Steele's caliber would take Overlin in stride....Freddie has made life miserable for every good man in the middleweight division...but I think Overlin is the toughest candidate he ever took on....I saw Ken run into a knockout punch right on the button in the first round of a bout in Philly a couple of years ago, and he shook it off and fought....further, he came back a year later to beat the man who had flattened him, Paul Pirrone, and Pirrone in those days packed a whale of a punch.

Overlin is one of those young men who hangs onto an idea like a bulldog, forgetting everything else but his ambition...which is to win the middleweight title..up to last October, when Babe Risko outroughed him in a 10-rounder. Overlin had won 35 consecutive fights...and he met some pretty fair dudes along the route.

Overlin has been in there throwing 'em something like five years ...his early background is that of a bellhop in a Decatur, Ill., hotel ...then four years of service in the navy...Chris Dundee saw him boxing in Portsmouth, Va., and pitched camp right there until Overlin's stretch was ended, after which he signed him for his stable...Jack Dempsey liked the youngster so well he took a piece of him...several years ago Overlin was married, in the ring, at Virginia Beach, Va. ....the wedding was preliminary, you might say, for that same evening Ken celebrated by blasting the pins from under a middleweight named Spike Webb.....which goes to show that bride or no bride Mister Overlin keeps his mind on his business.

* * *

The champion, Freddie Steele, is all business in there, too, so it stands to be a whale of a fight... The Tacoma puncher made a fine impression here against Babe Risko. ...Dave Miller is his manager, and the two of them are hard to beat inside the ring or out...they have been together since Freddie was 14 years old, a gawky kid coming to Dave's gym for "boxing lessons"... now Freddie is comfortably fixed with a trust fund that Miller persuaded him to start six years ago ...and Miller owns a hotel in Tacoma, an interest in Longacre race track at Seattle, and a piece of six movie theaters in Tacoma.

Under Miller Freddie has come right up from a 120-pounder to a very tough bundle of middleweight abuse...a friendly guy when he has his civilian clothes on. Steele becomes an old bad-nasty when they tie on the gloves and pull that stool out from under him.

Freddie is no Ketchel (yet), and as we said before Overlin is not a Papke...but the meeting of these two determined young men should be one of the grandest encounters of the year...I'd almost be willing to suffer a noseful of resin to see the sparks fly when they swing.

G. C. Denniston New President Foremen's Club

Officers Announced At Industrial Relations Dinner Meeting Saturday

A. C. HORROCKS IS PRINCIPAL SPEAKER

ELLWOOD CITY, May 3—All Ellwood City industries and borough officials were represented when the Foremen's Club of the local Shelby Tube plant held their industrial relations dinner at the Shelby Clubhouse Saturday evening, with President E. R. Downing and all the old officers presiding over the last meeting of the year. Over 200 were present on the occasion.

The plants represented were the Aetna Standard Enginetring Company, Mathews Conveyor Company, Ellwood Forge, Beaver Enameling Company, Cavert Wire Company, American Cotter Pin Company, Ellwood Steel Corporation, Ellwood Iron and Wire Company, The Ellwood Company, Seamless Tube and Steel Company, Dresser Engineering Company, Specialty Foundry Company, Jones Engineering Company, Ellwood Brass and Bronze Company, Mrs. C. H. Smith Noodle Company, Burgess Russell T. Sitler, Borough Manager Lowell W. Monroe, Secretary Dennis Schill of the Chamber of Commerce and H. G. Evans of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, of Akron, O.

The meeting opened with the singing of "America" followed with the invocation of Clyde Houk. After a splendid dinner, President Downing took the opportunity to express his deep appreciation to the outgoing officers for their cooperation in making the past year one of the most successful in the history of the Foremen's Club. This included vice-president Thomas Sleighter, Secretary George W. Wilson, Treasurer J. D. Kirk, Chairman G. C. Denniston of the Key committee, H. E. King of the entertainment committee, Ed. McDanel of the program committee, C. R. Stevenson of the publicity committee, Herbert Habert of Plant trips, and J. A. Parson of the Boy Scout committee.

Then Mr. Downing introduced the new officers of the club, who responded with appropriate remarks. They were president, G. C. Denniston; vice-president, Harry Rankin; secretary, George W. Wilson and treasurer J. D. Kirk. Mr. Denniston stated that he hoped that he was only equal to the splendid example set by Mr. Downing and his fellow officers in the discharge of their duties and obligations in the club.

The meeting was then turned over to Ed. McDanel, chairman of the program committee, who introduced H. G. Evans, of Akron, O., vice-president of the National Association of Foremen. Mr. Evans had high praise for the efficiency and effectiveness of the local club in arranging various programs, events, and entertainments. He stated that the local foremen were a real example for other clubs. Mr. Evans announced that there would be a Western Reserve Conference in Youngstown, O. on Saturday, May 8, at which a top-notch program will be carried out. The principal speacker will be Roger Babson, one of the greatest statisticians in the country. This will be followed by four conferences which will be led by well known capable men. Mr. Evans extended an invitation to representatives of other local industries to attend.

Mr. McDanel introduced the principal speaker of the evening, A. C. Horrocks, director of publicity for the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company, of Akron, O. Mr. Horrocks asserted that the fog and mist is lifting from the industrial strife and turmoil in this country. There is a rising sun over the United States and the rough edges are being knocked off. There is a better understanding in human and industrial relationship, and the United States is far better off than the situation appears in Europe. Confusion and mis-understanding here are gradually being wiped out. Mr. Horrocks advocated an Americanized country with proper educational and recreational facilities for our youth, which would eliminate the prisons having an average of 25 years of age for their inmates. Once we solve the problem of taking our youth off the streets, then we will go far towards having an intelligent race here.

Poor knowledge of economics has been the cause of our recent industrial difficulties the speaker stated. Man has been attempting to sell his time for more and more money. Fifty per cent of these have not been doing their own thinking. If a man is to be worth anything to his company and community he must create an intelligent fellowship. He must participate in somt consecutive civic work or charitable enterprise of the community. In this manner he will exert his energy for a better human understanding and create more intelligent followers. Be a man and look the part of a man so others will come to you for aid in their work or life problems. Give a favorable impression since you are in a supervising capacity of your plant and therefore a definite part of management. Work on the principal of service and give interest to your fellow men. The speaker commended the local club for sponsoring one of the two boy scout troops known in the association.

The speaker advocated the giving of their children the same opportunity for responsibilities that they had when starting out in life, otherwise they will be parasites and rely on their elders in coping with the every day problems of life. Don't make it easy for them. Establish a pattern of work and living and be an example to the young. Mr. Horrocks encouraged the constructive use of leisure time and the maintenance of a hobby. This will go for towards helping any rea' man to work himself out of any problems.

In closing the speaker urged the men to keep a clean and clear mind, a singing heart, and be a square shooter with the company as well as with the men. Being a just man establishes you firmly with your men. Ours has been a fine heritage, and it should be our aim to leave something better for future generations. Dedicate your hearts to your dependents and followers and the years 1937-38 will be an era of understanding and fellowship.

Before the meeting closed, at the request of President Downing, the assemblage bowed in silent tribute to the passing of J. W. Adams, a fellow member of the club.

Arrest Driver Saturday Night

Police Charge Driver Of Car In Accidents Was Under Influence Of Liquor

ELLWOOD CITY, May 3.—Alfred W. Brown of Wampum R. D. 1, was released on $1,000 bond after arraignment before Justice of the Peace J. E. VanGorder Saturday night on charges of driving a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, as preferred by Chief of Police W. C. Morrison.

Patrolmen Fred Henderson and Fred Kirkpatrick of the police department were notified that a man had been operating a car in a drunken manner in the fourth ward. Upon investigating they found Brown and his car in a ditch along the Wampum road near the William Cole home. Brown was brought to the office of a local physician and pronounced intoxicated, police report. William C. Brandon of Line avenue came later to the police station and reported that Brown had hit his car on Fifth street, doing considerable damage. Also John A. Krestel of Fifth street came in and reported that his car had been sideswiped while parked on Wampum avenue. After the accident Krestel followed Brown in his car and found him in a ditch.

In another accident reported to police two cars were slightly damaged when they sideswiped on Wampum avenue Saturday night. Arthur Stubbel of Ellwood R. D. 2 was traveling west on Wampum avenue and was near a lunch stand at the end of the bridge when he saw another car coming toward him. A car was parked at the curb at his right and in order to avoid it he had to pull out a little. As he swerved he sideswiped a machine driven by John Markovich of Butler. He could not pass because of the parked car.

Leo Mason Named Assistant Supt.

Assumes New Duties Saturday In National Tube Plant At Ellwood City

ELLWOOD CITY, May 3—Official announcement today disclosed that Leo Mason of this city was appointed assistant general superintendent of the National Tube plant at Ellwood City by General Superintendent E. N. Sanders.

There has been considerable conjecture as to who would be named to the responsible post since last summer when a number of promotions were made. This position has been vacant since that time. It has been known that a number of men from other plants have been seeking the appointment. The selection of Mr. Mason who has been affiliated with the local plant for about fifteen years, comes as a real testimonial to his merit.

Mr. Mason got his early education in the Andover, O., high school and in Ellwood City. He then took a course in metallurgy at the University of Pittsburgh. Mr. Mason came to the local plant as assistant metallurgist. Four years ago he received a promotion and was transferred to the operating department of the Pittsburgh office. Last June he returned to Ellwood City to be the head of a new department (service) in the local plant. The most recent promotion comes as a pleasant surprise to his many friends. Mr. Mason is married and has made his home in Ellwood City for the past fifteen years.

Miss Kathryn Houk Weds Edward Cable

Ceremony Is Performed In Parsonage Of First Baptist Church Saturday

ELLWOOD CITY, May 3—The first day of May was the date chosen by Miss Kathryn Houk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Houk of Todd avenue to become the bride of Edward C. Cable, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Cable of Fifth street. The ceremony was performed at 4 o'clock at the parsonage of the First Baptist church with Rev. Bernie G. Osterhouse, as the officiant, in the presence of the parents of the couple.

The bride was very lovely in a stylish frock of poudre blue crepe with white accessories and her flowers were yellow roses. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Aggas, of this city, were the attendants, with the latter attired in a modish frock of yellow crepe and her flowers were pink roses.

At 6 o'clock a wedding dinner was tendered the bridal party, Rev. and Mrs. Osterhouse and members of the immediate families at the Houk home. The group, numbering 22, were served, a delectable dinner by Mrs. Houk assisted by her daughters, Misses Doris and Velma Houk. A beautiful color scheme of pink and white was carried out in the appointments and a tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom centered the bride's table, flanked with clusters of roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Cable are graduates of the local high school and the former is now employed by the National Tube company. They have a wide circle of friends in this vicinity. They left on a wedding trip to the mountains on Saturday evening and upon their return they will reside in a newly furnished apartment in Sixth street.

Many lovely and useful wedding gifts have been presented to the couple for use in their new home.

Mild Influx Of Buying Sends Stocks Up As High As Point And More

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service
Financial Writer

NEW YORK, May 3—A mild influx of buying increased early gains in the stock market to over a point in many of the leaders around the noon hour today.

Trading continued at a slow pace, however, as many awaited a possible supreme court decision on the social security act. London markets were improved and world commodity markets generally dull and little changed.

Amusements maintained a weak undertone as a result of the movie strike at Hollywood. Loews lost about a point, while Warner Bros., R. K. O. and Paramount all sustained large fractional declines.

Leaders on the upswing included steels, motors, most oils, rails and metal shares. Utilities were irregularly higher. Aviations came to the fore late in the second hour.

U. S Steel set the pace in its department with a runup of better than a point. Youngstown Sheet & Tube and Bethlehem were close behind, with others holding good marbegins over previous closings.

In the motor department, Chrysler moved up a point or so and General Motors a fraction after holding around Saturday's final quotation through most of the morning.

Buying in the petroleum section was centered in Standard Oil of N. J., which spurted more than a point. Phillips Petroleum and Texas Corp. also were actively higher.

Southern Pacific and Northern Pacific each advanced a point in a firm rail group. N. Y. Central, Atchison, Illinois Central and Baltimore and Ohio were other favorites.

Bonds were somewhat improved, governments featuring on an active turnover, grains were mixed, while cotton gained slightly.

52d Day of Fasting

His face showing the effects of his self-imposed ordeal, Jackson Whitlow, Stooping Oak, Tenn., mountaineer, is shown on the fifty-second day of his "God-inspired" fast, awaiting the "call from the Lord." Physicians say that even if he breaks his fast his chances of survival are slim. (Central Press)

SALLYS SALLIES

You may run your house like clockwork, and still be bothered by spring cleaning.

Witnesses in "Slave" Case

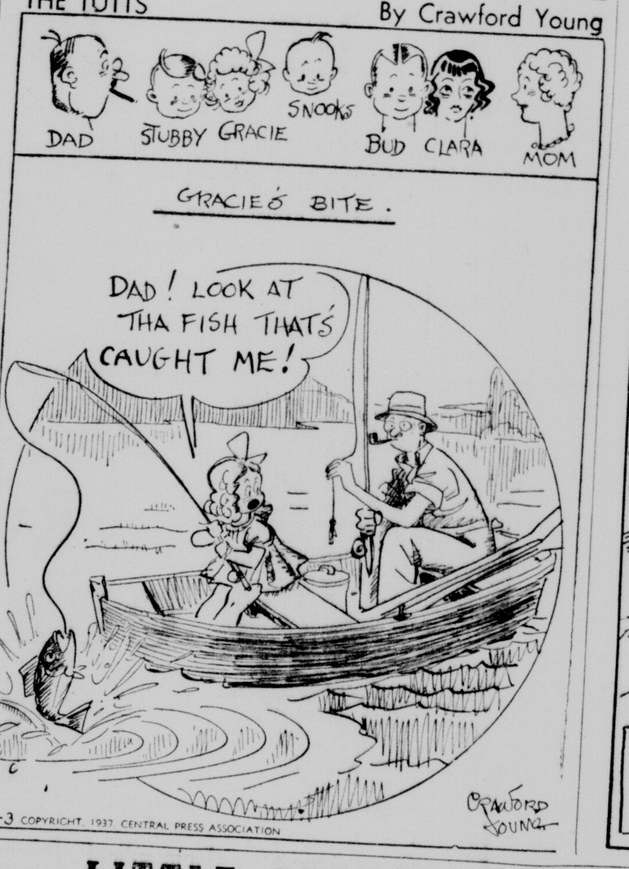

Margaret Toth, 17 (left), of Passaic, N. J., is shown with an agent for the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children at Dedham, Mass., after she had told a Superior Court judge how she had allegedly been "sold into slavery" for $100. The girl gave testimony in the trial of Dr. Harry Ostrer and H. H. McNeill in a graft case.

Now for 11 Days of Fishing

That characteristic Roosevelt smile is much in evidence as the President, shown with his son, Elliot, waves New Orleans au revoir from the deck of the destroyer Moffet just before she steamed down the Mississippi. In the Gulf of Mexico the President transferred to the yacht Potomac for eleven days of fishing. (Central Press)

THE TUTTS — By Crawford Young

Claim Youngest Four-Generations Title

A child bride's "blessed event" at Newburyport, Mass., brought the hamlet the honor of having the youngest four-generation family ever recorded in New England. Four-day-old Angie Irene Carol Dow, daughter of 14-year-old Mrs. Caroline Dow, is cradled in the arms of her grandmother, Mrs. Josie I. Eaton, who has reached the ripe age of 31. Mrs. Jennie E. Fowler, looking on, is the great-grandmother, at 53. Caroline, shown in bed, is the wife of 21-year-old Forrest J. Dow, whom she married a year ago with parents' consent. (Central Press)

Where Flood Carved a Ruthless Path

This canyon-like break in a main highway at Tillsonburg is typical of the heavy damage wrought in Ontario, Canada, as a 40-foot wave of flood water swept out dams, bridges and roads in a terrific surge of power. It is estimated that the total damage will exceed $3,000,000 in the city of London, alone. (Central Press)
